FRENCH A MILE FROM PERONNE, PUSHING AHEAD

Paris Reports Rapid Progress South of the Somme River—Another Line of Trenches Near Barloux Is Taken.

Germans Lose 500 Yards in Champagne Attack—British Report Repulse of Attacks and Advance.

Foch's Men Have Taken More Than 10,000 Prisoners in Drive—Britain Is Raided by Aeroplanes.

PARIS, July 10.—A new attack was launched in the Champagne by the French last night. The War Office announced the capture of trenches over a front of more than 500 yards.

On the Somme front, south of the river, the French took a line of German positions in the neighborhood of Barloux. In this sector 950 Germans were captured yesterday and last night.

The Germans made attacks at three points simultaneously in the Vosges, but all their assaults were checked completely by the fire of French machine guns.

The French attack in the Champagne was made at a point west of Meuse. The French troops charged three times. On the Somme front north of the river the night passed quietly.

In the Verdun sector artillery fire continued at Chattancourt, Fleury and La Lauffe.

British troops have made a new advance northwest of Contalmaison in the field of their offensive north of the Somme. It was officially announced at London this afternoon. Three additional guns and several hundred prisoners were captured.

The announcement follows: "In the past 48 hours particularly severe fighting has centered around Trones Wood which is triangular in shape and measures 1400 yards from north to south, with a southern base of 800 yards, and has been strongly defended by the Germans with trenches and wire entanglements.

"On the morning of July 8, after a heavy bombardment, we succeeded in capturing the southern end of the wood. Subsequently we extended our position toward the north, and drove back a determined counter-attack with heavy loss to the enemy.

Many Counter Attacks Made. "Yesterday afternoon, as already reported, two more German counter-attacks in mass against our positions in the wood were smashed by our artillery. Again last evening the enemy bombarded the wood with all nature of armaments and launched two strong attacks against it from the east and southeast. The first of these was completely repulsed. The second succeeded in penetrating the southern end of the wood, but the Germans were at once ejected with heavy loss. Later in the night a fifth desperate attempt was made to drive us from our positions, but this also was completely crushed by our fire.

"The enemy's casualties in these five fruitless attacks have been severe. "At other places on the battlefield progress has been made. Northwest of Contalmaison, we captured a small copse and three more guns, and this morning we have taken several hundred more prisoners.

"On the Flanders front, the enemy artillery was active and heavily bombarded our trenches near Hooge for three hours. In this neighborhood we made three successful raids into the German front. "The French advanced their line south of the Somme yesterday a mile and a half, capturing the German third position along a length of three and one-half miles, and are now within a mile of Peronne. French critics believe that the capture of Peronne now is a question almost of hours.

Advance Within Precision. Under the system of interlocking echelons, it was the turn of the right wing to push forward, the other echelons on center and left being saved to effect the moves required of them. The troops south of the Somme apparently had made good use of their breathing spell. When the word was given they moved forward with the precision of a well-oiled machine. They swept across the northern of the two plateaus which face Peronne, clearing out the German positions and establishing themselves solidly in the trenches which had been turned into quagmires by the combined effects of bombardment and incessant rain.

An Important Success. The Germans offered the best resistance they could, but the French artillery had been keeping up a formidable drum fire on their lines of communication, making it almost impossible for them to get either reinforcements or food in suitable quantities.

The success is important, in that it should enable the French heavy artillery to push forward into a position whence it can pour a fire into the flank and rear of the Germans who are re-

AMERICAN EMBASSY DENIES GERMAN BABIES LACK MILK

Official Report Says Children as a Class Have Improved in Health.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Statements that children in Germany are starving because of lack of milk and other nutritive foods are characterized as being "without truth" in an official report from the American embassy in Berlin, made public by the State Department and published in this country by authority of the German Foreign Office.

Children as a class, says the report, which was compiled by Dr. A. E. Taylor of the embassy staff, have presented during the recent months a condition of health and a reduction in death rate not present before the beginning of the war.

NEW RESCUE EFFORT NEXT WEEK

Shackleton to Start Again for Elephant Island to Relieve Men.

LONDON, July 10.—A Reuter dispatch from Buenos Aires says that Sir Ernest Shackleton expects to start a week hence for Elephant Island in another attempt to rescue the main body of his antarctic expedition. He will sail on the schooner Emma.

Sir Ernest Shackleton has made two vain attempts to rescue his former comrades. Twenty-two men have been in an ice cave on Elephant Island since April 15. At that time they had only five weeks' provisions.

GERMAN LOSSES 3,012,637

London Figures Compiled From Berlin Official Lists.

LONDON, July 10.—German casualties from the beginning of the war to the end of June, as computed from official German lists, are given as 3,012,637 in an official statement made public here. They include wounded of all classes, many of whom return to service. The announcement states: "The figures include all German nationalities. They do not include naval casualties or casualties of colonial troops. They are not an estimate made by the British authorities, but merely casualties announced in German official lists."

CHILD, 2, DIES OF PARALYSIS IN ST. LOUIS COUNTY

Infant South of Valley Park Is First in This Locality to Succumb to the Disease.

NEW CASE FOUND IN CITY

Examination of Children Reaching Union Station From East Continues.

Marie, the 2-year-old daughter of Edward Burkhardt, living two miles south of Valley Park, died at 3:30 this morning from infantile paralysis. This is the first death in this vicinity from the malady which has been taking dozens of children in New York.

The child was first reported to be ill Saturday. Dr. Dalton of Fenton, Mo., who reported the death, said this morning that there are no new cases in that vicinity.

A case of infantile paralysis in St. Louis was reported today by Dr. W. W. Simms of 6233 Manchester avenue. The patient, he said, was Charlotte de Salme, 2 1/2 years old, of 6731 Garner avenue. The first case which developed in St. Louis since the disease became widespread in the East was that of the McLin child, at 3806A Maffitt avenue, which has been isolated.

Health Commissioner Starkloff today instructed Police Chief Young at the Washington Avenue and Wabash Delmar Stations to permit no children to leave trains there. All must go to Union Station.

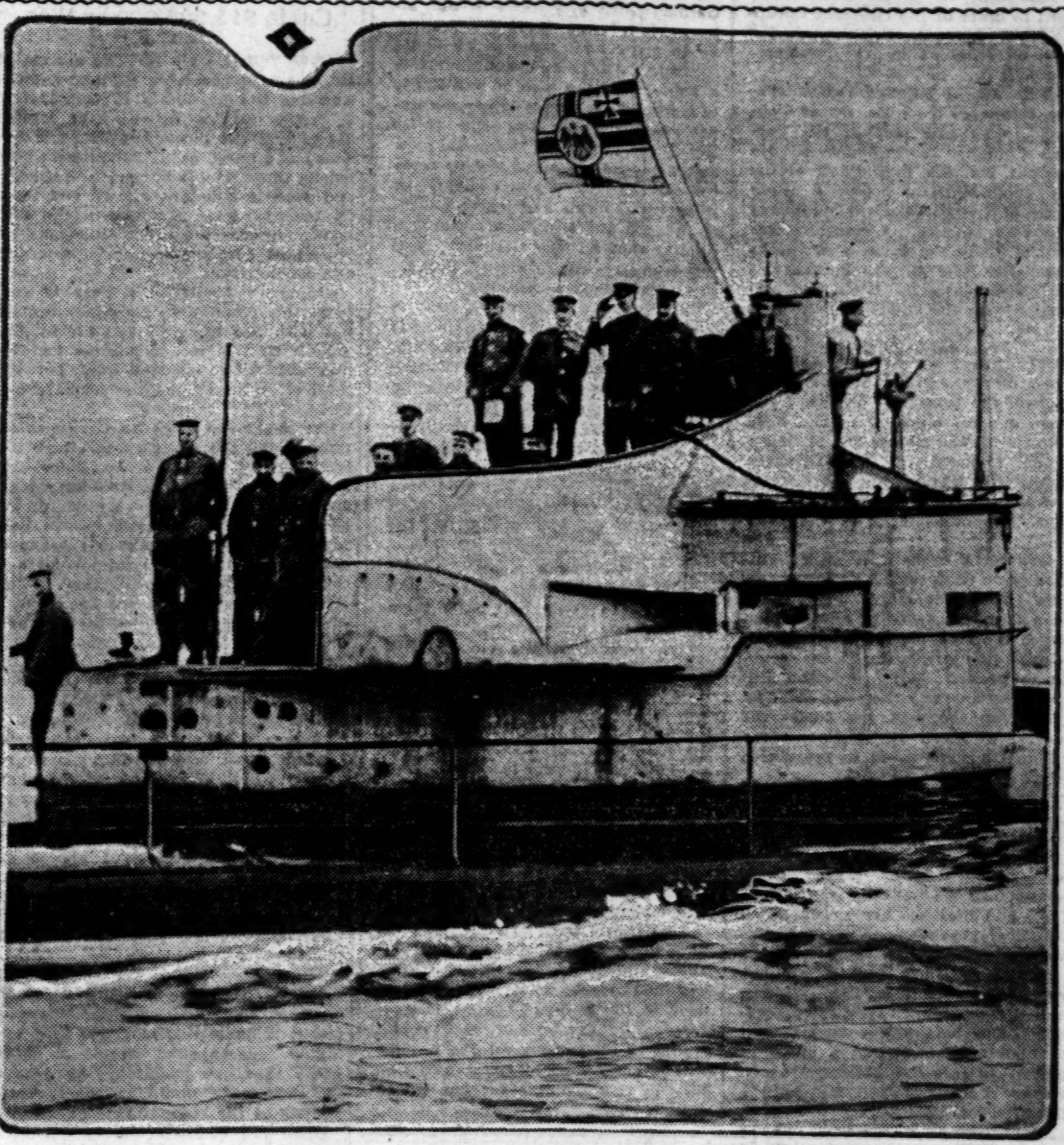

The examination of all children arriving at Union Station on trains from the East, which was begun Saturday by the Health Department, is being continued today. Three physicians, two nurses and four policemen are detailed to scrutinize all passengers alighting from Eastern trains and to take the children under 12 aside for examination. Of 109 examined yesterday six had temperatures above 100 degrees, which is one of the first symptoms of infantile paralysis. These children had no other symptoms, however. Their names and the addresses to which they went in St. Louis were recorded and the Health Department will watch them until it is certain whether they are infected.

A new case developed in East St. Louis yesterday, making the fourth in that city. The child is Geneva Clark, 4 years old, whose sisters, Josephine and Virginia, 2 1/2 years and 6 months old, respectively, are suffering from the disease. These are the children of Edward Clark, 607 North Twenty-seventh street. There are two other children in the Clark family, a boy 6 years old and a girl 8, and every precaution is being taken to keep them from contracting the disease.

Child's Death Not From Paralysis. Edward Brewer, 2 1/2 years old, of 816 Pigott avenue, East St. Louis, who for some time was believed to be suffering from infantile paralysis, died last night. An infantile paralysis quarantine card hung on the Brewer house for a week while the physicians were attempting to determine the nature of the illness. Later it was decided that the child was

LACLEDGE READY TO MAKE BIG CUT IN ITS GAS RATES

Wants British Thermal Unit System Used Instead of Sperm Test.

The Lacledge Gas Light Co. will make a material reduction in its rate to consumers within a few weeks if a conference held tomorrow between the Light company and city officials is satisfactory, it became known today.

The company, through its attorney, Charles A. Houts, has requested that the British thermal unit system of measuring gas efficiency be used, instead of the English sperm test, now in effect. If this agreement is made, the gas company will reduce its rates as follows: The present rate is 80 cents a 1000 feet for 10,000 feet or less; for all in excess of 10,000 feet, 60 cents a 1000 feet. The new rate will be 75 cents a 1000 feet up to 7000 feet, and only 55 cents a 1000 feet for all over 7000 feet.

At the present rate 30 worth of gas has to be consumed before the 60-cent rate is reached. Under the new system only 35 worth must be used before being able to use gas at the 55-cent rate. Under the new method the Lacledge Gas Light Co. estimates that the saving to the company will be $70,000 a year, and to the consumers, $25,000.

Years ago the Lacledge Gas Light Co. absorbed the St. Louis Gas Light Co. The latter's customers were mainly in South St. Louis, and the company made what is known as "wet gas" because of the high lighting efficiency when burned in open gas jets, then the prevailing method. This "wet gas" was measured for efficiency by the English sperm test, as a city ordinance required.

Rather than build new plants, the Lacledge Gas Light Co. continued manufacturing "wet gas." Recent estimates made by the company show that only 4 per cent of the gas consumed is used in open jets, and that "dry gas" is perfectly satisfactory for heating and mantle.

Attorney Houts for the gas company says that he has seen the agreement permitting the change of tests, and that it is satisfactory to him. This will be a "gentlemen's agreement," as the old ordinance requiring the sperm test will not be repealed. Should the Lacledge Gas Light Co. fail to keep its agreement in regard to the lower gas rates, the city officials can break their agreement, and the old ordinance will stand.

CAREFUL DRIVING AT 35-MILE CLIP CALLED RECKLESS

Judge Declares Auto's Speed Must Be Coupled With Circumstances to Make Case.

The speed at which an automobile is driven, according to an opinion given today by Judge McElhinney in the Clayton Circuit Court, does not constitute careless and reckless driving independently of the circumstances under which the driving is done.

The decision was given in the case against Anderson Gratz of Kirkwood, who was found guilty by Justice Stecker, May 18, of careless and reckless driving and fined $25. Judge McElhinney, in affirming the action of the Justice, says that although Gratz, in driving 35 miles an hour, was not careless, he was guilty, under the circumstances, of driving his car at a speed that was not careful and prudent and which endangered the property and life and limb of other persons.

The circumstances were that he passed a man and woman in a buggy and a boy riding a polo pony and leading other polo ponies. The judge says in the opinion, beyond which a vehicle may not run. Although, he says, the law provides that running 25 miles an hour is presumptive evidence of reckless driving, running at less than 25 miles an hour would not be presumptive of careful and prudent driving. What speed is careful and prudent he holds, is a relative matter depending upon the attending circumstances.

At the trial of the case Gratz testified that he had the car under control and was driving carefully because he had a timid man with him, and slowed down in passing the man and woman in the buggy and the boy on the polo pony. The Court held that there was no carelessness in the driving apart from the speed, but that the speed, under the circumstances, made Gratz's driving careless and imprudent.

MAYOR SHOCKED BY THIN GOWNS

They Are Banned From Streets at Greenville, Miss.

GREENVILLE, Miss., July 10.—When several young society women stepped between Mayor E. G. Ham and the sun Sunday afternoon the sight of limbs exposed through diaphanous gowns shocked the Mayor and he issued an order prohibiting them from being worn on Greenville streets. Policemen were ordered today to arrest any woman who appeared in such gowns.

WOMAN FOUND AFTER 42 YEARS

Disappeared at Age of 6 When on Visit.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., July 10.—Forty-two years ago, when she was 6 years old, Gustia Nowack went to the home of a woman neighbor for a few days during the absence of her husband. That was the last seen or heard of the child, who had long ago been given up for dead, until today, when her brother, John Nowack of this city, received a letter from her from St. Joseph, Mo., where she resides. She is now Mrs. George M. Chatfield.

Since her disappearance her parents have died. Her brothers and sisters are to receive her at a family reunion.

ALLIED EMBASSIES INSIST ON SURVEY OF DEUTSCHLAND

French and English Representatives Ask U. S. to Establish Status of German Submarine.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The British and French embassies today officially called the State Department's attention to the arrival of the German submarine Deutschland and asked that this Government assure itself of the vessel's character.

This will be done, it was announced, by the assignment of naval experts to assist the Treasury Department. The fact that boarding officers found the submarine wholly unarmed goes far toward simplifying any question as to her status as a merchant ship in American waters.

Officials realize, however, that the French and British embassies, while interested little in what the Deutschland has brought over, are concerned over such factors as the composition of the crew and actual ownership will have to be established to determine whether the submarine can be classed as a naval auxiliary.

Naval officers, while attracted by the great size of the submarine and her long voyage, the fact that she successfully ran the allied blockade, attracts them most. Some of them pointed out that a successful means of running a blockade has been perfected and one of the most potent measures of warfare has become a thing of the past, they say.

FIRST OF GERMAN LINE OF UNDERSEA FREIGHT BOATS AT BALTIMORE

Deutschland, 315 Feet Long, Entered Delaware Bay After 16-Day Trip From Helgoland.

BROUGHT DYES, WILL TAKE BACK RUBBER AND NICKEL

Traveled Direct Route of 3800 Miles, All but 90 Miles on Surface—$1,000,000 Cargo's Value, Carrying Charge $500,000—Captain's Story of Voyage.

BALTIMORE, MD., July 10.—The gigantic German merchant-submarine Deutschland ended her voyage across the Atlantic at 6:30 this morning when she was docked at the pier of the Eastern Forwarding Co. on the outskirts of Baltimore. The submarine left quarantine at 5:30 a. m., after health officers boarded and gave permission to proceed.

Definite announcement that the Deutschland is the first of a fleet of such craft built to ply regularly in the transatlantic trade was made today by Capt. Paul Konig, master of the supersubmarine.

"This is not the only one that is coming," said the captain. "Just wait. There will be more here soon, and we are going back for another cargo. e are going to have a regular line."

Shortly before noon Capt. Konig appeared at the downtown offices of A. Schumacher & Co., agents of the North German-Lloyd, carrying an armful of papers. It was his first trip that way from the water front.

On delivery of his papers to the office of the North German-Lloyd line, Capt. Konig issued a formal statement declaring his voyage across the Atlantic the heaviest England's rule of the seas. At the same time the captain disposed finally of the report that he carried a message from Emperor William to President Wilson, saying there was no foundation for the story.

The statement typewritten on the stationery of the Deutsche Ocean-Reederei G. M. B. H., Bremen, after announcing that the Deutschland was the first of several submarines built for the transatlantic trade, said that she would be followed by the Bremen.

Capt. Konig's own story of the Deutschland's voyage across the ocean was told to newspaper correspondents soon after he made public his preparatory statement. He laughed at stories of his being chased far off his course by enemy vessels, and declared that on the entire trip the vessel traveled submerged only about 30 miles.

"Why should we go out of our course, except to submerge?" he asked. "That is the simplest and most effective way to get out of our course. Besides, it is much easier to submerge."

"We came to Hampton Roads by the straight course from the English Channel. We do not come by way of the Azores. Altogether from Helgoland to Baltimore we covered 3800 miles."

"Throughout the entire trip the officers and crew were in excellent health and spirits. Of course, when we were under water for long spells, the air got very stuffy, and there was some insomnia, but it never was serious. The Deutschland is built to stay under water four consecutive days. We never reached anywhere near our submergence limit on this voyage."

"The ship is much easier to ride in than a torpedo boat destroyer, much steadier. Nothing can happen to her, she is so perfectly built. Of course, she rolls a little at times, but that is no hardship."

"Any nation that can build a ship like the Deutschland can do what we do," he continued. "and we can go without taking on any of her. We have enough left to take us home. And I want to say that it will be just as easy to go back as it was to come over. We will have no difficulty getting out of the cape—that is, if British warships do not break neutrality and come within the three-mile limit to attack us. How soon we shall leave I do not know, but we will be ready as soon as we can get a cargo."

Capt. Konig said that the Deutschland was built for submergence to a depth of 300 feet, but that it seldom was necessary to go more than 60 feet below the surface.

The captain said he had been in the merchant service for many years and that in recent years he had commanded the Princess Irene and the Schleswig. He said high tribute to the crew and his fellow officers. The chief engineer is F. Kloss, the first officer F. Knappe, and the second officer M. Kyring.

Deutschland's Capacity Is Put at Nearly 2 Trainloads
RAILROAD traffic experts estimated that a 75-ton miscellaneous cargo, the capacity of the Deutschland, would fill 10 railroad cars of 15 tons each. This would make almost two train loads, as carried on the average American railroad.

our ship gave out no smoke. We did submerge several times in the North Sea, staying under sometimes two hours and sometimes less. Every time we came to the surface, if it looked well, we kept on going. We saw no British battleships in the North Sea, only cruisers and destroyers, but at least what we took to be British naval vessels.

"We did not on the entire trip come into close proximity with any men-of-war. We avoided them all. It was very simple. From the North Sea we went straight through the English Channel, which is alive with warships, and on the night of the fourth day we submerged and remained still all night on the ground, on the bottom of the channel. There were lots of cruisers near us, we knew, and it was very foggy. So we thought it wise not to take any chances, and I gave the order to submerge for the night and until there should be clearer weather. The next morning all was well and we proceeded through the channel into the Atlantic Ocean without incident."

Trip Pays for Vessel. "Our trip has demonstrated that the big merchant submarine is practical and that it has come to stay. We expect the venture to be a great financial success. This ship can carry a cargo of 1000 tons and on this trip carried 750 tons of dyestuffs valued at $1,000,000. The charges for the shipment alone will pay for the cost of the Deutschland, about $600,000. On this trip we carried no mail, nor did we carry money or securities. Also we came without insurance, running entirely at our own risk."

"Did you bring a message from the Kaiser to President Wilson?" the captain was asked.

"No; we did not," Capt. Konig replied with emphasis.

"We will go back again, carrying whatever cargo there is for us to take," he continued. "and we can go without taking on any of her. We have enough left to take us home. And I want to say that it will be just as easy to go back as it was to come over. We will have no difficulty getting out of the cape—that is, if British warships do not break neutrality and come within the three-mile limit to attack us. How soon we shall leave I do not know, but we will be ready as soon as we can get a cargo."

Capt. Konig said that the Deutschland was built for submergence to a depth of 300 feet, but that it seldom was necessary to go more than 60 feet below the surface.

The captain said he had been in the merchant service for many years and that in recent years he had commanded the Princess Irene and the Schleswig. He said high tribute to the crew and his fellow officers. The chief engineer is F. Kloss, the first officer F. Knappe, and the second officer M. Kyring.

Capt. König said the greatest credit for the success of the voyage should be given to Engineer Klees.

Expected Bremen in Eight Weeks.

"I depended upon him every minute of the day and night," Capt. König said. He said he expected the next submarine merchantman to reach the United States within eight weeks.

The Deutschland was entered formally at the Baltimore custom house without opposition. From the custom house Capt. König returned to his vessel, joining his crew in the cramped quarters in which they have lived for more than three weeks. So far no arrangement has been made for either officers or men to live ashore while the submarine is preparing for her return voyage home.

Guy V. Steele, Surveyor of the Baltimore Port, made an official report to Collector Ryan late today, advising that the Deutschland was an unarmed merchant vessel, entitled to all the privileges of any other peaceful ship sailing under the flag of a friendly nation.

The Captain talked to port officials as his vessel was preparing to move up to dock from the lower harbor, where she dropped anchor at 11 o'clock last night at the end of her memorable voyage across the Atlantic through lanes of vigilant enemy ships. He spoke freely to the officers and laughed over his feat. To newspaper men, shouting questions over the ship's side, he was not so communicative.

Formal statements would be issued later by the representatives of his owners.

All during the night a considerable part of the Deutschland's crew had been astir and a small searchlight played almost constantly upon the tug Thomas F. Timmons, conveying the submarine, also kept the yacht under close surveillance.

Shortly after 4 o'clock, when daylight was beginning to show faintly through heavy, low-lying clouds and a steady drizzling rain, a boat with health and civil officers put out from the quarantine station and went alongside the submarine. To the municipal health officer Dr. Thomas F. Timmons, the skipper presented his bill of health, issued to him by William Thomas Fee, United States Consul at Bremen, on June 14.

Approached Coast in Dark.

Approaching the coast late Saturday, Capt. König found his path apparently clear. He laid to with his decks awash, however, waiting until darkness fell before nearing the coast. When the bright half moon went down, shortly after midnight, he put on all speed and shot between the Virginia capes, to be greeted by the tug Timmons, sent there more than a week before to await his coming. On board the submarine were the Captain, first and second officers and 25 men, all wearing the German-Lloyd insignia upon their caps. The skipper is a trim, slightly built man of medium height, around 40 years of age. Two of his seamen are grizzled old tars but all the rest are younger, apparently ranging from 18 to 25.

When the vessel was released from quarantine she moved up the river to the pier of the Eastern Forwarding Co., six miles away, to a waiting berth. On the way up the river the tug Timmons, which had been waiting at anchor, the first, a big Norwegian freighter, dipped her flag and her whole ship's company lined up against the rail, raised three rousing cheers, which were answered with a cheer by the Deutschland's crew. The Dutch ships the submarine exchanged formal salutes. She moved close by a number of British tramps in silence, observed with eager interest by the English crews.

Capt. König and His Men Pose for Photos and Moving Pictures

At the dock the boat hardly was tied up before an army of newspaper men and moving picture photographers stormed the place. They were not permitted to get near the Deutschland, protected by a barred wire stockade and numerous guards, but Capt. König soon appeared on shore and cheerfully posed before the cameras.

"Better hurry up, I haven't had my breakfast yet and don't look good," he remarked in excellent English, with only the slightest trace of a Teutonic accent. He stood smiling in the rain, wearing blue flannel trousers, stuffed into leather sea boots, a dark gray leather coat, gauntlets and a jaunty cap. When the photographers gave him a rest he held a sort of impromptu reception, shaking hands with everybody and telling how glad he was to be in an American port.

Later he was persuaded to bring out his crew. The thirteen youngsters brought with them a large green board taken from the stern of the ship on which was painted in big silver letters, "Deutschland-Bremen." Grouped about the board, with their skipper in the center, the sailors posed until Capt. König said it was time to eat.

A force of longhairs were ready on the dock to begin unloading the cargo, which is to be shipped as soon as possible by the Eastern Forwarding Co. to the purchasers, New York chemical companies. Probably only a day or two will be required to discharge; then the submarine will take on crude rubber and nickel consignments already waiting at the pier warehouse for her return trip.

When the start back across the Atlantic will be made, of course, is problematical. An official of the forwarding company said today it might be two weeks or might be a month, but it is probable that the vessel will be given out, and that the vessel will make her way out of the capes whenever the opportunity offers to elude the enemy ships which undoubtedly will be patrolling the Virginia coast waiting for her to appear.

Capt. König went about his preparations for entering at the custom house without hurry or unusual formality, just as if his boat were an ordinary freighter. He did not seem to be worried over reports that the American authorities would investigate his case to determine whether the Deutschland should be rated as an ordinary commerce carrier. The story that the Lake Torpedo Boat Co. was preparing to libel the submarine on the ground that her construction infringed on its patents apparently did not interest him.

The Deutschland is described as "a vessel engaged in the freight trade between Bremen and Boston or other Eastern Atlantic ports." Her gross tonnage is given as 2,000 tons, and she is described as "a new, built, hull, a new engine, in good condition and a 'wholesale supply of water from the Bremen waterworks'."

One thing the boarding officers noted particularly—there were no torpedo tubes or guns of any description aboard the vessel. They had been told that she mounted two small caliber rifles for defense, but came ashore convinced that the visitor was wholly unarméd.

"Persons who talked with Capt. König are authority for the statement that the ship: arms of any description aboard the Deutschland are four automatic pistols belonging to the officers and a sportsman's rifle used for firing rockets.

There is said to be on board a large sack of diplomatic mail, bearing the seal of the Imperial German Government, which will be forwarded to the embassy at Washington immediately.

The bill of health from the American Consul at Bremen shows that the cargo consists only of dyestuffs.

Delayed Start Nine Days.

It was learned that the boat left Bremen with her load of about 50 tons of valuable dyestuffs which her owners hope to sell to American manufacturers for a fortune. At Heligoland she waited nine days, leaving there June 23 to glow deep beneath the surface of the North Sea to start the watery voyage of the allied blockaders. Capt. König admitted that the purpose of his long delay at Heligoland was to deceive the enemy, who undoubtedly had heard rumors of the submarine's coming.

"We stopped there for very good reasons," the captain explained, with a broad smile.

This accounted for the belief in a week earlier, a misapprehension that caused German embassy officials to fear that she had run into allied warships or fallen victim to an Atlantic storm.

Once outside the blockading lines and into the Atlantic, according to the captain's story, he headed straight across and only deviated from his course once, when he saw what he took to be an enemy craft. Most of the time he sailed along on the surface, making around 14 knots an hour with his powerful Diesel engine, but he headed straight across at the rate of 7 1/2 knots.

Interior of Craft.

As described by Dr. John C. Travers, assistant health officer, who was taken through the boat by Capt. König, the Deutschland's interior appears to be mainly a mass of machinery. She has but one deck below, and it is not deep of hold for cargo. Dr. Travers descended through the forward hatch, where he found the crew's quarters, bunks on either side of a narrow passageway leading to compartments occupied by the captain and his two officers.

The captain's room is scarcely six feet square and barely high enough for a man to stand. It is furnished all in metal with the exception of a small oak desk.

Directly beneath the officers' quarters is the dynamo which stores electrical energy to drive the vessel when submerged. Next Mr. Travers was taken into the officers' mess room, scarcely larger than the staterooms, with a salley built with all the economy of space of a Pullman dining car kitchen.

Both in the crew's and officers' quarters were photographs and stocks of well-used disc. Capt. König told the doctor that while on the surface the noise of the machinery was almost deafening. "When submerged," said the skipper, "she moves almost silently, and then we enjoy ourselves."

Dr. Travers was permitted to look through one of the periscopes and declared that he could see the surrounding scenery, greatly magnified, with amazing clearness.

Aft the messroom, about one-third the ship's length from her stern, is the submerging machinery and two periscopes.

"I never saw such a mass of machinery in my life," said Dr. Travers, "and an amazing sight and I doubt if it would mean much except to the engineer who designed it. There seemed to be 500 different parts, an inexplicable tangle of polished copper and glistening steel."

Aft of the submerging machinery were the submarine's two powerful Diesel oil engines, which propel her on the surface.

"The device was adjustable," he said, "for both long and short distance observation. It did not seem to me as if I looked into it that I was in the submarine at all. I felt as if I were in an aeroplane on a wonderfully clear day."

Every Man Physically Fit.

Dr. Travers emerged through the conning tower, holding in his hand a leaf of German war bread, presented by the captain as a souvenir. Canned meats and fruits were the crew's staple food and with the exception of their loss of weight, due to the oily atmosphere, in the opinion of the health officer, the crew to a man was physically fit.

"I never saw better set-up men than these," said the doctor.

Both the officers and crew congratulated the submarine's commander on his feat.

All of her 315 feet of greenish-gray hull was standing well above water as the Deutschland was towed to her dock. It was before 7 o'clock in the morning, and rain was falling steadily, but there was a big, eagerly curious crowd waiting. The big craft appeared like some giant fish of the deep, with two periscopes for eyes. Her main structure reached fully 15 feet above the waterline. Amidships the conning tower extended still higher, and above all, towered the main periscope.

On the starboard side an emergency periscope was ready in case the other failed.

Three hatchways lead below decks, one forward, one aft and the main hatchway extending through the conning tower amidships.

Extraordinary precautions were taken to protect the Deutschland. As soon as she reached her dock an army of guards drew away all five craft and a huge chain of logs was drawn around her to prevent vessels from approaching within a hundred feet of the ship. On the land side of the dock a high board fence reaching far into the river had

Statement by Deutschland's Captain on His Atlantic Trip

BALTIMORE, July 10.

CAPT. KÖNIG of the German merchant submarine Deutschland gave out the following formal typewritten statement today after he had deposited his ship's papers at the office of the North German Lloyd line:

"The submarine Deutschland, which has the honor to command, is the first of several submarines, built to order of the Deutsche Ozean-Rhederei G. M. B. H., Bremen, which will be followed by the Bremen, shortly.

"The idea of building this submarine emanated from Mr. Alfred Lohmann, then president of the Bremen Chamber of Commerce. He brought his idea in the fall of the year confidentially before a small circle of friends, and the idea was taken up at once. A company was formed under the name of Deutsche Ozean-Rhederei G. M. B. H., and the Germania-Werft, Kiel, was entrusted with the building of the submarine.

Directors of Firm.

"The board of directors is composed of Mr. Alfred Lohmann, president of the board; Mr. Philipp Heinen, general manager of the Norddeutscher Lloyd; B. M. Harman, manager of the Deutsche Bank; Mr. Karl Stappelfeldt, manager of the Nord Lloyd, has taken over the management of the company.

"We have brought a most valuable cargo of dyestuffs to our American friends, dyestuffs which have been so much needed in America and which the ruler of the seas has not allowed the great American republic to import. While England and the United States have been at war, we have by means of the submarine commenced to break this rule.

"Great Britain cannot, however, hinder boats such as ours to go and come as they please. Our trip passing Dover across the ocean was an uneventful one. When danger approached we went below the surface, and here we are safely in an American port ready to return in due order.

"I am not in a position to give you full details regarding our trip across the ocean, in view of our enemies. Our boat has a displacement of about 200 tons and a speed of more than 14 knots. Needless to say, we are quite unarmed and only a peaceful merchantman.

half a dozen rows of heavy barbed wire, curtained with blue cloth, all around the boat. No one without a permit was allowed near the entrance to the docks.

Sixteen days out from Bremerhaven, the submarine reached safety between the Virginia capes at 1:45 o'clock yesterday morning, passing in on the surface. ## PRESIDENT SAYS HE WILL SERVE ALL AMERICAN IN MEXICO

Declares in Address to Salesmen's Congress at Detroit That He Will Not Assist Few "Gentlemen" Who Wish to Exploit Southern Neighbor.

USE OF FORCE BOTH WRONG AND LONG WAY

Actions of Few Persons Have Given Mexico Reason to Suspect That We Wish to Possess Rather Than Serve Her, He Says.

DETROIT, Mich., July 10.—President Wilson aroused great enthusiasm at the World's Salesmanship Congress today by urging that business men carry justice and fair dealing into the ports of the world, particularly those of Mexico, and thereby establish confidence in American principles. His efforts, he declared, will be to serve all America by serving Mexico herself for her best interests, without using force, and not to serve the few "gentlemen" who wish to exploit Mexican possessions.

When the President asked the crowd what it desired at the end of all the present world troubles, it shouted "peace" in one voice, and then he added that his wish was "permanent peace."

"I hear some say," he said, "that they want to help Mexico and that they propose to help her to overcome her with force. That is the wrong way as well as the long way."

"After fighting them you would have a nation full of justified suspicion. Thus you would not help them. You would shut every door against you."

"What makes Mexico suspicious is that she thinks we do not want to serve, but possess her. And she has justification for these suspicions in the way some gentlemen have sought to exploit her possessions."

"I will not serve these gentlemen, but I will serve all Americans by trying to serve Mexico herself."

"The way to establish our sovereignty is to respect her."

The President added that he believed in the old Virginia bill of rights, which declared that a country might do as it pleased with its own Government.

This information, the President said, was for those gentlemen who would "butt in."

The President declared that the merchant marine, which some are "so slow in giving us," would be a great help to the business interests of the United States.

In order to obtain foreign business, however, he said, it will be necessary for American business men to adapt their goods to the demands of other countries, and not try to force their own ideas on other markets. Salesmanship, he said, would go hand in hand with statesmanship after the close of the war.

Great world changes which are now taking place, the President declared, will force the United States to take a more active part in world trade in the future.

Days of Change.

"These are days of incurable change," he said. "It is impossible for anybody to predict anything as certain with regard to the future either of this country or of the world in the large movements of business. One thing is perfectly clear, and that is that the United States will play a new part and that it will be a part of unprepared opportunities and greatly increased responsibilities."

Timidity must be cast aside by those who seek the world trade, he said, and a knowledge of conditions of business and conditions "throughout the globe" will be essential to success.

"No amount of mere push, no amount of mere hustling or to speak in the Western language, no amount of mere hustling, no amount of mere active enterprise will suffice," he declared, and he added "in the relationship of nations with each other many of our antagonisms are based on misunderstandings, and as long as you do not understand a country you cannot trade with it."

"Lift up your eyes to the horizons of business," he concluded. "Do not look too closely at the little processes with which you are concerned, but let your thoughts and your imaginations run abroad throughout the whole world, and with inspiration of the thought that you are Americans and are meant to carry liberty and justice and the principles of humanity wherever you go, so out and sell goods that will make the world more comfortable and more happy and convert them to the principles of America."

From the hall the President went to the Detroit Athletic Club, where he held a reception to members of the congress. Thousands of persons who were unable to gain admission to the hall stood along the streets outside the club and applauded him when he posed for motion pictures with Gov. Ferris of Michigan and others.

Enthusiastically Received.

No more patriotic nor enthusiastic reception has greeted the President recently than he received here. Thousands of persons lined the streets through which he passed and when he entered the hall the entire audience rose and waved American flags.

President Wilson's party includes Mrs. Wilson, Secretary Tumulty and Congressman Frank A. Denham of Michigan. As it was driven to the convention hall a cannon thundered the presidential salute. A large crowd at the station welcomed President and Mrs. Wilson. Henry Ford, the manufacturer, sent the President a message expressing confidence that he would keep the United States out of war.

ORPET DESCRIBED AS SULLEN, VAIN, CHARACTERLESS

Jury Is Told That He Had Plain Motives for Murdering Miss Lambert.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., July 10.—Eugene M. Runyard, who has played a silent part in the prosecution of William H. Orpet, charged with the murder of Marion Lambert, became the center of interest in Judge Donnelly's court today, when he made the opening argument for the State.

Orpet, the lawyer declared, was a sullen youth, vain and without character. His motives for the murder were plain, according to the attorney, and his every act from the alibi letters to his flight from Marion's body in the shadow of Helen's wood on Feb. 9, a guilty act, Marlin, who had loved and trusted him, and now had been betrayed, he said, was now in his way. Her exposure meant exposure to Orpet, she stood in the way of his career, and in the way of his marriage to Celestia Youker, Runyard declared.

Girl Planned for Future.

On the other hand, he continued, Marlin had every reason to live, and every act to the moment of her death gave every evidence that she did. Her head was full of plans for the future. She wrote the day before her death to her Sunday school teacher, Miss Minnie Runyard, that she would see her at a little party planned for the Saturday which came after her death. She planned to go to college, too. At her birthday party, Feb. 6, the lawyer related, she was the guest of the gay, according to every girl present save one—Josephine Davis.

When she met Orpet she had her school books under her arm, ready for the day's lessons. Was that, asked the lawyer, the preparation of a girl walking knowingly to her death?

And Orpet? Were his preparations for the meeting equally innocent, demanded the speaker. They were not, he answered, but bore every imprint of an elaborate plot to escape consequences of the crime on which he was bent.

Runyard spoke of the rumpled bed at Madison, to deceive his landlady as to his secret trip; of the borrowed overcoat which he wore no place except to Lake Forest; and of the alibi letters to Marion and to his mother.

"Grant—which we do not—that the defendant might wish to deceive his parents as to a comparatively innocent truancy, how in the name of reason would he want to account for the letter to Marion?" said Runyard. "He says that he wanted Marion to have it because her parents objected to him and she could use it in case their meeting was accidentally disclosed. Do you believe that, gentlemen of the jury? We do not, nor does anyone else in this courtroom. Just so sure as Marion Lambert lies in her grave, he knew she would never read it and he did know that it would be read by those who inquired into her death."

"When that inquiry was made he wanted it to appear that he was at Madison. There lies the damning fact which no chemical symbols can obscure and no bottle of molasses and water can hide."

POPE'S NEW PEACE DEVOTIONS

BERLIN, via London, July 10.—The Pope is continuing his efforts for peace and with this purpose, according to the Cologne Volks Zeitung, has sent instructions to the bishops to devote the last Sunday of the second year of the war to a general communion of children. This service is to be celebrated in all the churches and chapels of Europe, and, by the Pope's instructions, is to take the most solemn possible form.

GARDNER CALLED TAX DODGER BY ANTI SALOON MEN

Allege He Made Affidavit He Was Worth $1,000,000 in 1913, Paid on $200,000.

The Missouri Anti-Saloon League in the latest issue of its paper, The American Issue, contains a charge against Fred D. Gardner, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, that he is a tax dodger.

The Anti-Saloon League accuses Gardner of evading taxes on nearly $1,000,000 of personal property, basing its charge on an affidavit he made Feb. 12, 1913, before United States Commissioner Irvine Mitchell in St. Louis when he became surety on the bonds of Paul J. Morris and J. H. Barry, union labor men, who were convicted in the Indianapolis dynamite cases.

Affidavit Tells of $1,000,000.

This affidavit, which is printed in full in the American Issue, contains a statement by Gardner that he had personal property amounting to $1,000,000 free of all liens and encumbrances.

In June, 1913, according to the records in the Assessor's office, Gardner made a return of only $300 for personal property. In 1914 he made a personal return of $2470, and in 1915 a personal return of $300.

The affidavit of Gardner is on file in the office of the Clerk of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago. In it Gardner listed his real estate, which he said had a total value of $102,000. Gardner's total real estate holdings were appraised by the Assessor in 1913 at $40,480. This amount included three small pieces of property which were not included in that listed by Gardner in his affidavit.

In the affidavit Gardner listed his residence at 4508 West Pine street at $45,000. It is assessed at $23,250.

Put Wealth Above Million.

In his affidavit Gardner said: "I own personal property, in my own name and right, amounting to $1,000,000, which personal property is free and clear of all liens and encumbrances whatsoever."

"I am worth at least $1,000,000 over and above all my liabilities."

Gardner could not be seen today for a statement regarding the differences between the amounts he returned for personal property and the amount of personal property he said he owned when he made the affidavit. At the office it was said that he was out of the city and that it was not known where he could be reached.

WORTH ESTATE $80,000

Widow, Son and Daughter Are the Heirs.

An inventory of the estate of Gottlieb Louis Werth, who died last March, shows personal property with a face value of $80,421.35, and realty located at 2716 Hermitage avenue, 2350 Odell avenue, 198 acres in Jefferson County, Mo., 40 acres in Greene County, Mo., a lot in Joplin and mineral rights to 116 acres in Clinton County, Ill.

The personality consists of notes amounting to $245.65, bonds, $659; claims, $183.41; chattels, $387.56, and stocks with a face value of $79.04. Most of the stock is worthless or of doubtful value, it is stated in the inventory. Werth's heirs are his widow, Mrs. Louise Werth of 621 West Belle place, and two children, Mrs. Frieda W. Tarrant and Duncan S. Werth.

3 WITHDRAW AS CANDIDATES

Three candidates today notified the Election Commission that they desired to withdraw their names from the ballot at the August primary. They are John T. Pitts, Democratic candidate for Circuit Judge at St. Louis; W. A. Shelton of Unionville, Progressive candidate for State Treasurer, and M. E. Morrow of West Plains, Progressive candidate for Attorney-General.

CHAUFFEUR HUNTED IN THE MURDER OF WOMAN IN HOTEL

Articles in Room Are Identified as Belonging to Charles Durgin.

A search for Charles Durgin, 38 years old, a chauffeur, was begun by St. Louis police and county officers today, following the positive identification of the woman found dead from a shot in the Pontiac Hotel, Nineteenth and Market streets, last Friday, as Miss Bertha Louise Elrod, 24 years old, of Bend, Mo., who was employed until June 24 as a housemaid at Dr. H. S. Atkins' Glenwood Sanitarium at Glendale, St. Louis County.

Durgin had been employed at the sanitarium as houseman and chauffeur for five years. At various times in the last 20 years he had worked for Dr. Atkins. Durgin resigned without giving notice on June 23, the day before Miss Elrod quit her job after giving two weeks' notice.

Nearly 20 years ago Durgin was a patient at the city sanitarium (insane asylum), of which Dr. Atkins was then Superintendent. He was suffering from a form of insanity caused by excessive drinking. When he was pronounced cured he was believed to have quit as a coachman and personal servant.

Morphine Found in Valise.

Mrs. Atkins today said it was supposed that Durgin's reformation was complete. He was believed to have quit drinking and so far as was known at the sanitarium, he was not a user of any drug. In the man's valise found in the room where the woman was slain were two bottles which had contained morphine.

The city sanitarium records show that Durgin was listed there as being subject to periodic insanity. He once escaped from the sanitarium and he was twice returned there after having been released on probation. On one of his previous escapes he shot a sewing machine agent while at his father's home.

On the day Miss Elrod gave up her employment she and Durgin went to Clayton and obtained a marriage license. They were married in Clayton, and if a ceremony was performed elsewhere there is no record of it at Clayton, as no return has been made on the license.

A laundry mark on a bungalow apron found in the hotel room led to the identification of the woman. It was at first thought the mark was "Dr. A. K." or "Dr. A. X." The apron was taken by detectives to the plants of several laundries, employees of which said the figure 4, designating the route number of the washer driver.

At the Miller Laundry, 2747 Laclede avenue, it was found that the mark "Dr. A." had been put on the apron there and that route No. 4 was the one on which was the Glenwood Sanitarium.

The identification of the woman was made by her sister, Miss Dora Elrod, her aunt, Miss Matilda Shockley of the Woman's Christian Home, 1812 Washington avenue, and Dr. Frank Whippley, physician at the sanitarium.

Dr. Atkins' wife, Dr. Whippley and sanitarium employees identified the shaving outfit found in the hotel room as having belonged to Durgin. This outfit, they were told by Dr. Atkins, was for Durgin's exclusive use and was kept in Durgin's room at the sanitarium. They also identified the alarm clock and a small purple velvet watchbox, found in the hotel room, as Durgin's property.

The marriage license record at Clayton shows that Durgin gave his address as 4195 Westminster place. There is no such number, but John Jackson, a brother-in-law of Durgin, lives at 4145 Westminster place. Dr. Jackson said today it was said Durgin had not been there in the last three months.

A photograph of Durgin was shown to the clerk and other employees of the Pontiac Hotel today. They said it was the picture of the man who, in company with the woman afterwards found slain, engaged a room there about 8:30 p. m. Thursday. This man, after changing hats, departed from the hotel alone at 6:30 a. m. Friday. His woman companion's death was discovered at 1:30 p. m. Friday.

Got Letter From Sister.

Miss Dora Elrod, who identified the slain woman as her sister, is also employed at the hotel. She said the police that on July 1 she received a letter from her sister, signed "Bertha Durgin" and asking her to meet her at Union Station Wednesday night. This was the night before the woman at her home found dead went to the Pontiac Hotel.

Miss Dora Elrod said she understood Durgin and her sister had gone to Bend, to visit Miss Elrod's mother. As directed in the letter she went to Union Station last Wednesday night and remained there several hours, but did not see her sister.

Miss Dora Elrod turned over to the police today a letter she received from Durgin, dated June 30, telling of plans which fit in with the events of Thursday. It is as follows:

"Dear Dora—Bertha and I will be out some time next week, probably Thursday, to get our things. She wants you to draw her pay, so she can get it when she comes. We had a fine time at the Bend. We left here Sunday morning and had to lay over at Belle until Monday morning at 8:30. I left out there Thursday morning. Everybody out there is well. Your mother and Bertha send their love. They are going to have a picnic at Niagara on the Fourth and the folks are all going."

"How are you, Dora? I wish you could come in Saturday evening. I would like to see you. I am so busy getting things ready for my wife that I haven't time to come out. If you can come I will look for you on the 7 o'clock train. Write to Bertha, as she was expecting a letter from you when I left. Your Brother, CHARLES."

Miss Elrod says she did not keep the letter because there was a fire at the sanitarium Saturday evening and she was busy Saturday morning. Miss Elrod said that when her sister

14 MORE DIE OF PARALYSIS, TOTAL IN NEW YORK 238

High Record of New Cases in Manhattan Despite Rain and Cooler Weather.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Rain and cooler weather failed today materially to check the epidemic of infantile paralysis, which, since its inception two weeks ago, has caused 238 deaths in New York City. During the 24 hours which ended at 10 o'clock this morning, 14 deaths and 103 new cases were reported.

Thirty of the new cases were in Manhattan, the largest number yet reported there in a single day.

Nineteen more deaths for the 24 hours ending at 10 o'clock yesterday morning were reported by the Department of Health, making the total fatalities 234 since the epidemic started. There was a drop in the number of new cases, 88 being reported, against 96 the day before.

Five city departments united today in a campaign to keep the city of New York clean in order to check the epidemic. Officers of the Department of Health, the Department of Sanitation, the Department of Public Works, the Department of Parks and the Department of Water will be used nightly in flushing the city streets.

The Street Cleaning Department has been instructed to accelerate the removal of garbage, ashes, and refuse thrown into the streets in the congested districts, and the Mayor announced today that he has directed the police to report or arrest householders or storekeepers who indulge in the practice. The Tenement House Commissioner has been instructed to compel tenants to clean up the hallways, cellars and yards throughout the city.

In Brooklyn, where the epidemic is most severe, the work of flushing the streets at night will be more than doubled.

Plans have been made to induce all parents of children who are afflicted with the paralysis to send them to hospitals, as only 5 per cent of the cases treated in such institutions have died, while of the children who were kept at home about 22 per cent have died.

Spreads by Contact.

After a conference with health officers and other heads of city departments, the Mayor said today that, although little is known of the origin of the disease, the scientific experience indicates that it is communicated by personal contact and that the germs do not live apart from the human body; that it is necessary for one diseased person or another who has been in contact with him to come in contact with the person before the disease can be communicated.

The national health service is endeavoring to trace the origin of the epidemic and to discover how the disease is transmitted. Dr. C. H. Laverdier, who is in charge of the Federal health service, denied today a report that the United States Government plans to quarantine New York City.

Six Paralysis Cases in Chicago Now Identified.

CHICAGO, July 10.—On the same case of infantile paralysis was reported by the Health Commissioner yesterday, making six under quarantine in this city.

Fifty Cases in New York Outside of City.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 10.—Three new cases of infantile paralysis, making a total of 50 in the State outside of New York City, were reported to the State Health Department.

Four New Paralysis Cases Reported in Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 10.—Four new cases of infantile paralysis have been reported to the State Department of Health.

Two Cases of Paralysis Found at Moberly, Mo.

MOBERLY, Mo., July 10.—Two cases of infantile paralysis were discovered here yesterday, according to Dr. S. P. Towles, county health physician. Measures are being taken to prevent the disease from spreading.

And Return, July 15, via Clover Leaf Route. 415 Olive street.

Durgin quit the sanitarium they told her they were going to be married. Later she understood they had gone to Bend to visit her mother, and who assumed the marriage had taken place.

Dr. Atkins, proprietor of the Glenwood Sanitarium is out of the city. Mrs. Atkins today said she had noted that Durgin was more attentive to Miss Bertha Elrod than to any of the other servants at the sanitarium. She said she thought it strange that Durgin quit without giving notice when it became known that a two-weeks' notice given by Miss Bertha Elrod was about to expire. She had never found anything critical in Miss Elrod's conduct, she said.

SECOND INFANTRY CAMPS IN FLETHY UNION FIELD, FIGHTS 'MAN-EATER' ANTS

Alkali Dust Whipped Into Their Faces at Laredo by Night Wind—Water Supply Called Dangerous and It Must Be Boiled.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LAREDO, Tex., July 10.—Disappointment almost to the point of disgust was written plainly on the faces of men in the Second Missouri Regiment yesterday as they made their homes in the fifth of a long abandoned onion field, which since has been used apparently as a dumping ground and is sparsely populated by the lowest class of Mexicans.

Coming here from the beautiful and perfectly appointed State camp at Nevada, Mo., where drainage ditches and bath houses made sanitation and comfort almost complete, the men felt, as one of them expressed it, like they had been "dumped out on the rag end of creation."

The camp site which the authorities had selected for the Second Regiment in many respects was actually filthy. The carcasses of a dead dog in advanced stage of decomposition was removed from the premises allotted to L. Company. The Laredo pesthouse is within 20 yards of regimental headquarters.

Work Long Without Water.

After being marched to the camp site at 7 o'clock Sunday morning the men worked in the broiling sun for several hours without drinking water, because of a general order requiring all water to be boiled before being used for drinking or cooking. The men were not warned of this condition and consequently had not filled their canteens from the train before marching to camp.

Officers from the medical corps explained the order for boiling the water by saying that the filtration plant is not sufficient to purify more than 60 per cent of the water used and the supply is laden with typhoid and dysentery bacilli.

The seemingly bottomless layer of alkali dust that covers the ground here and forms the floors of all tents also is in striking contrast with the perfect carpet of bluegrass sod which covered the camp and drill field at Nevada.

CARRANZA DECIDES UPON PLANS FOR PARLEYS WITH U. S.

Said He Will Designate American City for Conferences, Probably Tomorrow.

MEXICO CITY, July 10.—The preliminary arrangements for a conference of representatives of the United States and Mexico, to be held in some city in the United States, have been completed, it is learned from a trustworthy source, and it is believed that by tomorrow Mexican Ambassador Designate Arredondo will advise the State Department at Washington of the details of the plans for peace parleys. These, it is understood, will be held without delay.

GIVES WARNING AS TO VILLA BANDITS

WASHINGTON, July 10.—A second warning that Villa bandits are headed for the Big Bend district of Texas, sent by Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican Ambassador-Designate, he told Acting Secretary Polk his Government had given him definite information that the bandits were moving northward toward Boquilla, Tex., and promised co-operation of Carranza forces.

Arredondo said he had no information regarding the number of bandits or their distance from the American line. The first warning of their approach was given last week. The information was sent to the War Department and forwarded to Major-General Funston.

EL PASO, Tex., July 10.—Gen. Matias Ramos, nephew of Gen. Carranza, who was killed in the recent Carrancistas fight, is pursuing the Villa band under Calisto Contreras into the mountains of Durango, according to a telegram received today by Gen. Gonzalez at Juarez.

The message from Gen. Trevino at Chihuahua City said the Villa men did not give battle at the State capital, as expected, but continued up the Rio Grande. Ramos has a force of 1500 men.

FIRST REGIMENT SOAKED BY RAIN, CHILLED TO BONE

Missourians in Laredo Camp Have Desperate Time in Drying Their Equipment.

STILL SHORT OF SUPPLIES

Men Taking Daily Practice Marches Observe All Precautions of Warfare.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LAREDO, Tex., July 10.—First Regiment guardsmen have succeeded in drying out their equipment which was soaked by a heavy rain late Saturday night and early yesterday. Twelve "Sibby" tents and the headquarters mess tent were blown down and the camp was flooded with six inches of water. Official figures from the Weather Bureau at Fort McIntosh show that one and one-quarter inches of rain fell in an hour.

Guardsmen of the First Infantry of A, B and C Batteries of field artillery and the Signal Corps were compelled to sleep in wet uniforms in bed sacks on the ground. A number awoke to risk exposure in the tents went to refuges on the outskirts of Laredo, where they spent the night on porches.

Hospital corps resources were taxed to their limit. About 35 hospital calls were reported, most of them being cases of chills. Many of the men recently have been inoculated with smallpox vaccine and their reactions were aggravated by the exposure. The field hospital was overcrowded and Col. Donnelly's headquarters temporarily was turned into a hospital.

First Sergeant Washed Out.

A Company of the First Regiment located near the lowest part of camp suffered principally from the storm. First Sergeant Robert H. Johnson, whose tent is in a slight depression, was washed out of his sleeping quarters. All company records were soaked and the mascot, "Alamo," a small fox terrier, was nearly drowned before members rescued him from a flooded tent.

Many guardsmen were in Laredo when the storm broke and were unable to reach camp in time to lower the walls of their tents. As a result, blankets, bed sacks and personal belongings of many privates were wet through. A few companies prepared hot tea or coffee, which was served to the shivering and bedraggled guardsmen about 2 a. m.

First Regiment officers slept on cots furnished by the officers themselves. Many of the guardsmen suffered little discomfort, as they had cots.

Men in West Uniforms.

The majority of the men, he said, were wearing their olive drab uniforms as the regiment has few cotton uniforms, the kind needed here. Col. Donnelly added that a regulation for equipment had been forwarded last Thursday to the Camp Quartermaster at Fort McIntosh, Maj. S. O. Bockenbach, and approved by Gen. William A. Mann, commanding.

The requisition calls for the following equipment per man: One cotton olive drab uniform with pair extra breeches, one pair shoes, three pairs socks, two cotton, one wool; two suits underclothes.

ing, one wool shirt, a mosquito net, a wool blanket and cot, water containers and a field kitchen kit for each company, comprising fire irons and kitchen utensils.

The First Regiment lacks an adequate number of containers for drinking water. Col. Donnelly said the requisition represents needed extra equipment. The men already have one complete set of clothing, issued at Nevada. They possess little extra clothing.

The First Regiment is the only Missouri infantry unit here still without automobile trucks for light delivery work. Recently, in response to an offer to furnish automobiles by citizens headed by Nathan Hall, acting Mayor of St. Louis, Col. Donnelly specified the regiment's requirements as including four delivery trucks, one ambulance, one runabout and three motor cycles. The autos so far have not arrived.

the men are expected to be received shortly.

Humorous incidents infrequently occur at night when the sentries become strict and require each person who approaches the lines to exhibit his authority to pass. It is a military custom to order all such persons to advance and be recognized. If doubt still remains the sentry may require them to "state the nature of their business" that brings them to the camp. Late last night two recruits returning from town approached a sentry. "Halt!" came the sharp command. "Who's there?"

"Members of the camp," was the reply. "Advance and be recognized." The private advanced. The sentry, still doubtful, queried: "What's your business here?" "Paper hanger," said one of the recruits.

Details of Practice March.
When the First Regiment leaves camp at 7 o'clock each morning and begins its daily practice march to Bellevue Heights, three miles east of Laredo, the column is protected to the fullest extent by advance guards, patrols and flankers, with which modern military science equips troops on the march. Officers and men act on the supposition that the country through which they are marching is hostile territory and take all possible precautions to avoid surprise or ambush. This is done to acquaint the men with the topography of the country in which they are encamped, and to give them practice in actual advance guard work.

Different sets of companies are assigned to the advance guard every morning. Twelve minutes before the main column of First Regiment infantrymen is to start, three or four men proceed down the sides of the road, keeping under cover as much as possible.

A little behind them the "hangers" start sets of patrols of about four men each, whose duty it is to spread out over the surrounding country, parallel to the road along which the column is to march and satisfy themselves by observation and reconnoitering that no hostile bodies of troops are near by.

Main Bodies Follow.

Three hundred yards behind the point comes the advance party. The proportion of the number of men assigned to the advance party, on in fact, all advance guard units, is variable, depending upon the size of the marching column and the character of the country. The advance party on First Regiment marches consists of a little less than half a company, or about 20 men. Next at a distance of 400 yards, the "support" starts, consisting of about half a company. The reserve is the final unit in the advance guard. On First Regiment hikes no reserve is maintained, as field service regulations make no provision for a reserve in advance guards of less than a battalion. Only a company for advance work is used on these practice marches.

Perhaps the largest religious ceremony in the history of this section of the border was held yesterday. Father Lornagan of the First Missouri Regiment celebrated mass at 7 o'clock in the morning. It was attended by thousands of guardsmen of the Catholic faith. At 9 o'clock he delivered a sermon that was listened to by thousands, both Catholics and Protestants.

Many Laredo clergymen abolished their usual Sunday services and devoted their religious endeavors to looking after the welfare of the soldiers. Committees of women of various organizations saw that the men were furnished ample supplies of cake, pastry, ice cream and other delicacies.

BATTERY A MEN AT LAREDO FIGHT SAND AND DIRT

Impossible for Them to Keep Entirely Clean in the Texas
Camp.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LAREDO, Tex., July 10.—When Augustus Thomas produced "Arizona" and the cavalryman dashed onto the stage slapping dust in copious quantities from his uniform, everyone thought the scene an exaggeration, but all the soldiers here know from personal experience that Thomas knew whereof he wrote. There is no grittier body of troops on the border than A Battery.

The camp is pitched over 6 inches of dust. Real dusty dust that permeates all equipment. They say here that the battery brought the first rain in seven months, but the small shower that greeted the men didn't have any effect on the dust at all.

After 72 hours on the train the men were dirty enough, but Laredo put on the finishing touches. The shower baths had not been built when the men arrived, but some stripped at once and stood under the hydrant—which helped some.

Nearly all carrying the men carried buckets of water and sprayed under the tents and were fairly comfortable.

Fifteen Men to a Tent.

Men in the battery are living in big conical tents. They pull up the side walls and the breeze makes the tents comfortable. Saturday—the first day in camp—was cool, but next day it was certainly hot in the sun. The redeeming features of the climate are the cool nights and the breeze, which makes shady spots fairly comfortable.

The water is impure and contaminated and the men have orders to drink no soft drinks or any wet goods bottled locally. Mexicans surround the camp selling watermelons, soda pop, cakes and bread and real Mexican tobacco, made in New York City, but they are under suspicion and the men are not supposed to buy from them.

The drinking water is boiled and then iced, and there is plenty of it. The camp, which includes the two other batteries, is situated next to the camp of the First Regiment, to the north of the town, and is surrounded by huts and houses holding Laredo's large Mexican population.

From noon mess to about 3 in the afternoon the men are ordered to stay in their tents to avoid the intense heat of the sun.

The men welcome this universal siesta of Southern countries. After evening retreat at about 7 o'clock the men are free to go uptown if they wish.

Laredo is wet, but every man realizes the necessity of temperance if he intends to do this work in this weather.

The Laredo people are mighty glad to have the soldiers here. They have a regular army post and border patrol, but the more the merrier. All the men here are self-constituted protectors of the peace and eager to co-operate in every way possible with the military authorities. Most of them are good shots—know the country and what is perhaps most important, know the Mexicans.

Rumor Factory Active.

The rumor factory is in full blast. The regulars here are delighted to stuff the militiamen full of alarming reports. Hills are pointed out to the men and they are told that they are Mexican hills and that French 75-centimeter guns are trained from behind them directly on the camp. The camp is worse than Alton for animal stories. A man who spent the night in the guardhouse woke up next to a rattler, the fact that the guard tent was policed by eight guards with bayoneted rifles to the contrary notwithstanding.

There are from 100 to 80,000 Mexicans across the river. Ready believers are found for each story.

The Maine troops at Laredo are equipped with four army type motor trucks. The Second and Third Missouri Regiments at Nevada are to be equipped with small motor trucks furnished by their friends. The First Missouri Regiment and Battery "A"—both of St. Louis—are the only troops sent without this modern equipment, and the question is asked, "Why doesn't St. Louis back its soldiers?"

Every motor truck added to the equipment means thousands of hours less grueling work for St. Louis troops. In this sandy, desert-like country the wheels of the wagons sink so deep in the dust that the men must dismount and, under a tropical sun, throw their stuff against the wheels. The motor truck means rapid, efficient transportation.

The battery and regiment have capable men to handle trucks and all the men are more than eager to be properly equipped.

"Boiled Ice Water" Free.
On the street leading from the camp to the Plaza there lives a former Red Cross nurse. She has a sign on her house, "Boiled Ice Water, Free for Soldiers." She and several girl friends are constantly serving water to the passing men. No more serviceable, thoughtful or self-sacrificing sight has greeted the men on the trip. In her back yard she has installed tables where soldiers may sit and write their letters.

The first shot of the war so far as St. Louis is concerned was a spent bullet which dropped into one of the supply tents of the First Regiment. Probably some Mexican snooting into the air for general results.

The St. Louis militiamen tasted literally their first and stern since arrival. It comes up suddenly almost every day in the early afternoon. The men, if they are in camp, let down the walls of the tents and bustle into their stuffy interiors for the duration of the storm, which sometimes lasts for an hour or more.

RUSSIAN HOSPITAL SHIP "SUNK WITHOUT WARNING"

Official Statement Says Vessel on Which Seven Lives Were Lost Was Proceeding Without Escort.

PETROGRAD, July 10.—The Russian hospital ship Vperide, the sinking of which in the Black Sea with the loss of seven lives, was officially announced last night, was proceeding without escort from Batoum to embark wounded soldiers.

The Vperide was of 855 tons and was constructed in 1898 with accommodations of 120 wounded. The official Russian statement said the Vperide was sunk by "an enemy submarine without warning."

48,000 CANS OF PEPPER ORDERED HERE FOR TROOPS

Supply to Be Sent to Border
Will Last 160,000 Men
30 Days.

An order for 48,000 cans of pepper to be used by the United States troops on the border and in Mexico was received from Fort Sam Houston by the Quartermaster's supply depot in St. Louis this morning. According to Capt. A. E. Williams one can supplies 100 soldiers for one day and the order would therefore supply 4,800,000 for a day or 144,000,000 men for 30 days. The spice will be bought in St. Louis and shipped to the Texas Quartermaster along with 140,000 pounds of coffee, 200 pounds of rice and 20 cases of salmon, asked for in the order. The rice and salmon will be purchased on the open market, while bids will be asked on the coffee and pepper.

The St. Louis supply depot is at present about stocked up and bids for large contracts will probably not be asked for several days. The emergency situation in the Quartermaster's department, caused by the rushing of the militia into the Government service has been met satisfactorily. Only one complaint regarding the supplies sent to the militia has been received. It was from a militia unit which objected to the St. Louis shoes which had been bought on the open market and were not of the regulation army pattern.

From bids opened July 6 large contracts for hardware are today being awarded to the Shapleigh Hardware Co. and the Simmons Hardware Co. of St. Louis. The Buxton & Skinner Co. of St. Louis was awarded large contracts for writing materials and supplies. Other St. Louis firms received smaller contracts.

Among the articles called for in the contracts, are 76,000 writing pads, 4500 bottles of ink, 4500 pencils, 10,000 pounds of writing paper, large quantities of typewriter supplies, 50 water coolers, 30 anvils, 500 folding camp tables, 500 aprons, 1400 stoves, 150 barrels, 10,000 buckets, 72 cuspidors, 3600 mops, 500 lanterns, 60 door mats, 28 padlocks, 1000 shovels, 72 pairs of handcuffs, 1200 dozen stable brooms, 730 dozen small tools of all sorts, 1400 pounds of borax, 160,167 dozen boxes of safety matches, 500 pounds of castle soap, 44,000 pounds of rope, 8000 pounds of burrap, 200 yards of canvas, 1000 pounds of wiping rags and 144 hose nozzles.

Distinguishing Automobiles
Exceller Auto Co. rents T-pas, Packards exclusively. Remont 2088, Central 608.

Christian Endeavor Election.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 10.—Fred D. Strudell of St. Louis was re-elected president of the Missouri Christian Endeavor Union, which closed its annual convention here last night. Poplar Bluff was selected as the next convention city.

No Deposit Required.
From residence customers for Union Electric Light & Power Co. Service.

Chicago Socialist Renominated.
CHICAGO, July 10.—William A. Cunneen, Socialist, who came near being elected State's Attorney for Cook County in 1912 and whose friends insisted that he was "counted out," was nominated again yesterday for the same position by the Socialist county convention.

Authentic Anecdotes That Show Hetty Green in Her True Light

Broke Up Brilliant Argument of Joseph H. Choate in Trial by Ludicrous Weeping—Dodged Tax Commissioner and Carried Pistol.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Hetty Green has been variously pictured, but these authentic anecdotes show her in her true light. Joseph H. Choate was once the attorney for the defense in a suit of Hetty Green, whose eloquence she undoubtedly feared. During the trial she had kept away from the court, fearing to be served with papers in a counter suit. But she felt that something must be done to counteract the effect of Choate's eloquence. So, on learning that the great man had risen to make the final argument she covered her face with a heavy Spanish veil and seated herself in a conspicuous place. Choate's argument was so brilliant that she squirmed in her chair, but suddenly, lifting her veil, just as Choate reached his highest flight of oratory, she began to weep and sob violently, and then flashed forth a huge white pillow sham with which to smother her tears. The effect was so ludicrous that spectators, jury, and even the Judge, joined in a roar of laughter and Choate never finished the brilliant argument.

Didn't Think T. R. Made Good as President.

SHE was asked her opinion of Roosevelt when he was in the White House. "He hasn't made good," she replied. "What would you think if I were to say every day for years that I was going out and kill a muskrat and then never did it?"

Loved to Ridicule

Joseph H. Choate.

SHE used to take particular delight in giving a touch of ridicule to all references she made of Joseph H. Choate, who so frequently opposed her interests in litigation. Once she recounted:

"Why, I've known him a long, long time, so long as I can remember; he used to come around and whisper love tales to me. What do you think of that? And I used to call him 'Cupid' then, with his cute curls. But he's changed now. He's turned reformer and is sprouting wings."

Ordered to Sit Down;

Replied She Had Cramp.

IN a litigation before a referee she had been obstreperous in her remarks and interruptions. "Mrs. Green," the referee yelled, "sit down." "I'd rather stand up. I have a cramp," was her smiling reply. A lawyer named Lane tried to collect a $500 fee from Mrs. Green and took her to court about it. But Hetty Green had a signed agreement written on the letter head of the Chemical National Bank, in which Lane had agreed not to charge her "any amount that will not be satisfactory to you and your husband."

"She met me in the Chemical Bank one morning," Lane testified, "pulled this agreement out of her pocket, seized me by the coat collar, jammed me against the wall and shook her finger in my face and said: 'See here, if you don't sign this paper I'll throw you out of the house.'"

"Ever held up before?" asked Mrs. Green's lawyer. "Not so thoroughly," sighed the lawyer.

Assails Women After Day in a Divorce Court.

SHE was induced to watch a Judge dispose of 30 divorce cases in one day in a Brooklyn court, and this was the shrewd old woman's comment on her experience:

"Divorce day, they call it, well, what can you expect? These women never learn to keep house. They get married and their sole ambition is to wear fine clothes, bleach their hair, wear gay ribbons and fine laces. None is the last place they want to think of. They go parading around with their vulgar styles and think they are beauties. Next thing their husbands go parading around, and then trouble begins and they find themselves here. Oh, I know. I've lived around hotels and I know what these women are."

How She Dodged the Tax Commissioner.

SHE was frequently accused of changing her address every few little while for the purpose of dodging the taxes of the different communities. A Tax Commissioner undertook to get some admission of this character out of her.

"Where do you live now?" "Nowhere—I have no home," the wealthiest woman in the world replied. "Do you live at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn?"

"No, you can't tax me there. I never lived there—only stayed. I paid my bill and left this morning. My trunks are up at Bellows Falls."

"Then, where do you sleep nights?" "I don't know. Can't you recommend a good place?"

That finished the tax commissioner.

Borrowed Money Once—

From a Car Conductor.

ONLY once in her life was Hetty Green known to borrow money. On that day she got a loan of a nickel from a Hoboken trolley car conductor and three cents for ferry fare to her office in New York from a fruit vender. She had started from her home with only a 50-cent piece in her purse and it turned out to be counterfeited; so she had to borrow the eight cents to get to New York.

Loosened Purse Strings

in Bringing Out Daughter.

IN bringing out her daughter, Sylvia, Hetty Green loosened her purse strings astonishingly and entertained society on gold plate. But she made no effort to appear other than a homely, practical old woman, and it is told at the dinner of the hostess and said: "Really a rare vintage, Mrs. Green." "Well, it ought to be," she informed him; "it cost me $9 a bottle."

Paid Husband an Income

When He Went Broke.

IT has been, perhaps, forgotten that her husband, Edward Green, was known in Wall Street as the spendthrift. He was no fortune hunter. He had made $1,000,000 in East India trade, but when completely broke in Wall Street, it was characteristic of his wife, whose own fortune at that time was at least $15,000,000, that she would send none of her money after him in an effort to save his affairs. But she always insisted on his receiving from her an income to keep him in comfort, even

YOU CAN HAVE PINK CHEEKS

What causes the color to fade from pink cheeks and red lips? In a word it is thin blood. When the fading color in cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood.

A hundred causes may contribute to the condition of thin blood that is known as anemia. Overwork, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and invigorator. They begin at once to increase the red corpuscles in the blood and the new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. Appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect, energy and ambition return.

A booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes, $2.50.—ADV.

Say Firmly
Yacht Club—
I want
"I want know it's the best!"
"Best" for many reasons—its purity—its delightful flavor—its economy—its convenience.
Tip: One bottle. Your money cheerfully refunded if it fails to win you.
The grocer just round the corner sells it.

IT is not alone the youngsters who are glad that Ivory Soap floats. Everybody who uses it values this quality next to Ivory's mildness and purity.

In the bathtub it means not only convenience but freedom from possible injury to have the soap always at hand and in sight instead of at the bottom of the tub where it may be stepped on.

And in toilet or laundry use the floating cake is a great economy because it reminds one to take it from the water instead of sinking out of sight and mind to waste away.

3000 SIGNATURES ON PETITIONS FOR ELECTION REFORM

8000 Necessary Expected to Be Obtained Early in Present Week.

The Municipal Ballot Conference, which is conducting a campaign for the submission of ordinances providing for the nomination of municipal candidates by petition, instead of by primary election, and for preferential voting, announced yesterday that more than 3000 signatures to the initiative petitions have been obtained and that the necessary 8000 signatures would be obtained not later than Tuesday.

The officials of the Conference say they are much encouraged by the support the movement has received. If the ordinance is adopted it would be impossible for the political bosses to control local politics, because the party caption would be eliminated, and the names of all candidates, Republican, Democratic, Socialist and others would be printed on the same ballot, without any party designation.

Reform Strongly Commended. The Conference made public yesterday several letters received from civic leaders throughout the United States strongly commending the proposed ballot reforms in St. Louis. Richard S. Childs, secretary-treasurer of the National Short Ballot Organization, of which President Woodrow Wilson is president, wrote:

"I think St. Louis will take a big step toward self-government by this plan and go a long way toward eliminating the need for those powerful private political organizations on which the public is forced to lean when operating our cities and more cumbersome political mechanisms."

The merit of the preferential voting plan is regarded by Childs as proven by the experience of those cities in which it is in operation.

"The preferential ballot features for the three major offices are, of course, no longer a matter of experiment, as there are some 40 cities operating under the system with admirable results," continues Childs.

"Your proportional representation feature for the Board of Aldermen is new in this country, although it is familiar enough abroad. In fact, it has so long been a familiar institution in other countries that the only novelty is the fact that it has not heretofore been tried in the United States."

William S. U'ren of Portland, Ore., a vice president of the National Short Ballot Organization, writes:

"I congratulate the people of your city on this opportunity to vote for this long step forward in the method of choosing their city council and chief officers. The preferential voting plan you offer, in my opinion, is by far the best yet devised for obtaining a majority choice at a single election."

"The list system of electing aldermen by proportions instead of by pluralities, and which you are proposing, has given general satisfaction in Belgium."

Hoppe Plan Will Carry. "For the general good of the movement towards government by a majority of those voting, I hope with all my heart that your citizens will adopt the proposed new system. I am sure they will get far better results in government than from anything they have ever tried heretofore."

William Dudley Foulke of Richmond, Ind., writes:

"Your purpose in seeking to prevent one political party from electing your entire board of aldermen is worthy of support and the true way to do this is by a system of proportional representation, as you propose. When one man only is to be chosen for a single post, preferential voting is the best way, but if three or more persons are to be chosen, the representation ought to be as nearly proportional as possible."

Mayo Fesler, who about six years ago resigned as secretary of the Civic League of St. Louis to accept his present position, that of secretary of the Civic League of Cleveland, describes the success of Cleveland's new system of municipal elections, including preferential voting, in a long letter, in which he recommends heartily the proportional representation idea.

GOING AWAY? This is to remind you that before you start you should order the POST-DISPATCH. Have it mailed daily and Sunday and change the address whenever necessary. Price 45 cents a month, including postage.

California in Training Camp. MONTEREY, Cal., July 10.—Half a mile from where Commander John Drake Sloat, U. S. N., raised the American flag in California July 7, 1846, more than a thousand recruits are encamped at the civilian military training camp for a month's training under the direction of Brigadier-General W. L. Sibert, U. S. A. About 1000 more are expected.

Clemenceau Against Government. PARIS, July 10.—The Senate at the last of its secret sessions adopted last evening, by a vote of 231 to 4, a resolution of confidence in the Government. Similar action was taken by the Chamber of Deputies several weeks ago. Among the six who refused to uphold the Government were ex-Premier George Clemenceau and ex-Foreign Minister Pichon.

ROGERS HORNSBY AND OTHER SISTER AS FIRST SACKER

"Pep" Makes Good When Emergency Sends Him to Guard Initial Base.

MAY BE RETAINED THERE

Weakness of Keystone Defense Demands That Miller Be Sent to That Gap.

By W. J. O'Connor.

Rogers Hornsby's transfer to first base, possibly a permanent shift because of Bruno Betzel's preference for third, gives St. Louis one distinction that no other baseball city can question: We have, gentlemen, the two greatest young first sackers in this wide, wild world in George Harold Sisler and Rogers, alias Pep, Hornsby.

The latter hasn't the polish of former, as a fielder. Sisler has taken up where Chase left off a few years ago, and the Michigan marvel also is faster; but for straight-away hitting and pure, unadorned aggressiveness in the pinch, give us the Milk-Ped Kid from Texas.

A veteran and unbiased, not to say highly competent judge of ball players, such as Umpire Charlie Tigler is, gave it as his word the other day that during the last ten years he has lamped nobody that even approached Hornsby as a natural hitter and all-around exponent of the pop-eyed pastime, his first year out. Hornsby has what is found in one young ball player in 10, and that is baseball instinct.

Batting Eye His Big Asset.

Of course he has a still greater asset. He has a batting orb that is keener than a razor-edge, a pair of lamps that only such men as Cobb, Jackson, LaJoie, Wagner and a very few others brought up from the minors in the last decade or two.

Space doesn't permit us to compare Sisler and Hornsby as it should be done, but the fact that both of them now are guarding the initial corner, gives local fans a chance to expand their chests and boast of one supremacy which no other baseball city can question. We have the fanciest young first sackers in this or any other world.

Huglin put Hornsby on first yesterday, after considering the move for some time. Rogers had made good at third, just like he has made good at first. He has only to develop footwork to be another Sisler, but Betzel didn't deliver the ball as he deserved at second. There was a loose-ness around the middle bag and because of Bruno's inability to master the tricks of the keystone station, Roy Corhan often makes a mistake.

Betzel is a better third sacker. He's young and of a disposition not given to worry. He made his mark last night at third and he goes back there with the confidence of having successfully served his apprenticeship.

Miller Needed at Keystone. Jack Miller, experienced and a thinker, will relieve the tension around the middle station. He should be a big help to Corhan, who is a great defensive ballplayer, his late record notwithstanding. Two errors charged against Corhan lately were in reality Betzel's. Corhan's work affords merits nothing but praise.

And there are those who think the new battle front will prove a winner for Huglin. At least it deserves a trial and will get it.

Yesterday the Cards, led by Hornsby, smashed the Phils in finished style, 8-6. Hornsby's triple drove home two runs in the fourth frame, while Rogers came in on a sacrifice fly. Hornsby's single started the scoring in the seventh. Therefore it was largely the doings of "Pep" that put the Phils to sleep. On Saturday that put the Phils to sleep. Put him on the Browns and he would be one-two-four. Austin is hitting around .190.

Phible Means Easily Bent. One thing interesting about the Cardinals is the pliability of the inner defense. Hug can put Miller at any position on the infield without weakening the club. Betzel goes nicely at second and better at third. Hornsby, like Miller, can go around the horn and do every job smartly. Corhan is a one position man. Gonzales and Snyder can play first in a pinch. Can you beat it?

Phil End Series Today. The final game with the Phils will be played at Robison Field today. Either Ritzey or McQuillan will work for Moran, while Reese Williams or Hall will be Hug's non-starter. Tomorrow the back-making St. Louis will play a four-game series and Lee Meadows will be saved from against them. Meadows is going a little better than any of Hug's hurlers just now.

Bescher's Bum Luck. If ever a ballplayer was deserving of sympathy, Bob Bescher is. Nobody in recent years has batted in together with the Red Sox. In the last 10 games at home he has hit more line drives at the corner than any man in history. He has expended long drives almost at the rate of a foot; he has been absolutely out of luck.

In the sixth inning yesterday his liner that was to be his third base was pitched off by Loderus, who could only knock it down, but managed to make the out. In the seventh Bob batted one down the left-field line and it kicked up the white chain, but O'Day, a heartless veteran, screamed "out" and Bescher ever gets lucky he'll bat 1,000.

Shaffer May Join Giants.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Arthur Shaffer, one of McGraw's stars in 1911, who quit the game two years ago, is on his way to New York from San Francisco, where he has been for some time. McGraw is anxious to get him back and he is an all-around player. He is a good work for him either on the infield or in the outfield. He was one of the best basemen in the league in his prime.

U. S. GOLF BODY TO CENSOR U. S. TOURNEY ENTRIES

Formal Notice to Members Advises That Amateur Rule Will Be Upheld.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Despite recent statements of disgruntled golf clubs backed up by legal opinion, it is apparent that the Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association has no notion of receding from its stand taken at the amateur situation, as may be seen by the following, issued Saturday from the secretary's office:

"Your attention is called to section 8 and section 21 of the by-laws of the United States Golf Association which read as follows: 'Section 8. The Executive Committee shall take cognizance of every apparent violation of section 7 that may come to its attention in any manner whatsoever. It shall exercise absolute discretion in the interpretation and enforcement of the by-laws for the purpose of safeguarding the best interests of the game of golf and shall have power to inflict such penalties as the circumstances of each case may in its judgment justify.' 'Section 21—All entries are subject to the approval of the Executive Committee of this association and any entry may be rejected by the committee.' At the bottom of the communication appears the following paragraph: 'Acting in accordance with the authority conferred by these sections of the by-laws, the Executive Committee announces that it should any club belonging to the United States Golf Association permit any player whose amateur status has been declared forfeited to compete in its tournaments, the Executive Committee reserves the right to reject all entries from such club by any tournament held by the United States Golf Association.'

Big Cash Prizes for "Pros."

Larger money prizes than ever given before for a tournament in this country have been offered for the three-day meeting of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, to be held over the Van Cortlandt Park public links, on July 17, 18 and 19. It has been decided to have first money amount to $300 and the winner also will receive a $400 for the season.

Besides having the first 10 players share the best selected cash from the four rounds have been arranged. The tournament, which is being given under the direction of the New York Newspaper Golf Club, probably will be known as the championship of the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

The championship will consist of 72 holes of medal play and as the "pros" will have had several days of golf at Garden City in the metropolitan open, they should be at their best.

No Bleachers for St. Joe.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 10.—Bleachers will be eliminated next year from the St. Joseph Western League baseball park, through the doubling of the present grand stand seating capacity without any new structure. The plan, which was approved by the local club, is a pioneer innovation which will put home plate where first base is now.

Bethlehem Team Wins.

Bethlehem defeated Zion, second-place in the Western League yesterday. Bethlehem was on the hill for the winners and Zion was on the hill for the losers. The game was a fourth victory over the Zion. In the other contests Bethlehem trimmed Columbia, 1-0, while the Bethlehem gained a 2-0 victory over the Filgrina.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Chance for Some Country Club.

NOW is the time for some good country club to come to the rescue of St. Louis tennis and help establish it on a firmer basis. One of the visiting players attending the Central States events said that St. Louis would never amount to much in a tennis way until clubs better equipped to handle tournaments than the Triple A took up the game.

Lack of accommodations for the visiting players during their stay here and inability to charge admission in fees will keep back the sport he thinks.

The Triple A, being in a public park, of course has no sleeping accommodations for visiting players. Neither can it offset the expenses of promoting big events by asking admission money.

The park is public property and the club is not even permitted to ask reserved seat fees of spectators.

M. A. A. Dim Prospect. IN this crisis some of the many country clubs in the vicinity ought to step into the breach and prepare to handle any big events. At present no local club except the Triple A is equipped with the proper courts. But these could easily be constructed.

The Missouri Athletic Association, according to report, will be in the field as a country as well as a town club. When this occurs, the tennis problem here will be solved. Seemingly no other organization is game enough to come to the front.

Triple A deserves unbounded credit for putting on the many big events it has, without even the hope of breaking even. If other clubs had shown half the spirit of this organization we might not be a mere flag station on a "small time" sport circuit.

Back Comes Jess Burkett.

OLD-TIMERS here will remember Jess Burkett, formerly of the Cleveland, Cardinal and Brown teams and esteemed in his day the most scientific batter of his time, not even excepting Wee Willie Keeler. Burkett led the league several times, and at least once averaged better than .400 for the season.

When he quit the Browns, early in the local career of promoter Hedges, he went to the Worcester, Mass., club where he proceeded to win pennant after pennant as manager and player. He lost his grip later as a pennant winner. Recently he was deposed as manager of the Lawrence, Mass., club.

However, back comes Jess as manager of the Hartford, Conn., team of the Eastern League. Announcement was made last week that Burkett would succeed George Spires as boss of the club. Hartford is seventh in a 10-club league, at present.

Burkett was one of the first players to whom the title "crab" was applied by the bleacherites, who took delight in tormenting him.

They won little flinching from this iron-souled warrior of the old school, a master in the art of give-and-take on the ball field, and one of the gamest players known to the history of the sport.

Coming With a Rattle. BILL DONOVAN already hears the flapping of the 1916 pennant. He hasn't yet said his team was "in"; but from the way he diagnoses the chances of his rivals, his fellow managers have about as much show as a dollar bill in a baseball pool.

As Bill sees it, here's the situation: "The best way to figure our chances is to consider the strength of the other clubs. The Red Sox are going pretty good, but, as yet, they have shown nothing that would prove them to be stronger than the Yanks. The other clubs I do not fear. Cleveland has held up well, and those boys deserve a lot of credit, but I do not believe they have sufficient pitching strength to keep their heads above water all season. The Tigers, the other favorites in the spring, have been erratic all season through lack of consistent pitching. The White Sox are regarded by many as the strongest individual club in the league, but if it came to a fight between them and the Yanks, I honestly believe we could win."

From which we deduce, among other things, that the Yankees are not losing sleep over the fact that the BROWNS are in the race. If these Jonestons don't quickly speed up, there's one man who will be growing nervous, however—Phil De C. Ball.

Not a Fight in Him. WILLARD'S immediate retirement appears more than a possibility, now. One by one he is closing the doors that bar the way to future matches for himself. Probably the sole reason that he does not now retire is that this would effectually kill him as a drawing card for circus engagements.

Here is the situation regarding Willard's fighting prospects: He has heard the negro fighters—they are many and dangerous. He has declared he would NEVER again fight Carl Morris, who is coming back.

He has refused to fight Dillon, because he's too little. He has turned down a match with Fred Fulton, virtually the only remaining giant "hope."

No Opponents Left. WITH these deletions from the list of eligibles, who is there left for Willard to confront?

It is almost a SURE thing that Willard will never get into the ring for another finish fight; and it is probable that he will never fight any more bouts, unless they be 10-round, no-decision affairs against opponents not deemed dangerous.

Willard is about the worst thing in heavyweight champions we have had handed to us since Jack Johnson came along. Jack did take on certain finish fights, after he was declared world's title holder. Willard was to quit after one lonely title struggle, in which he defeated a fat, middle-aged, over-confident, cultured pugilist.

These money champions! Give us the good old days, Bo, where the title-holder felt in honor bound to give the challengers a chance.

JAPS WILL FACE BETTER FOES IN UTICA NET EVENT

Oriental, Who Won Two Titles Here Sunday, Face Californians This Week.

St. Louis' biggest nine days of tennis play came to a close yesterday afternoon, after Ichiji Kumagae and Hachishiro Mikimi had succeeded in defeating Arthur Van Reppert and Howard Gautier of this city for the doubles supremacy of the Central States.

Earlier in the day Kumagae had been successful in his effort to displace Roland, another St. Louisan, from his throne as singles champion. The doubles championship went by scores of 6-1, 7-5, 6-1, which the Kumagae-Hoer argument was also settled in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

So with these two cups in their possession, not to mention the runner-up trophy of the sectional doubles tourney, which was awarded them after their defeat in the title round match with Cannon of Kansas City and Lindauer of Chicago, on Saturday, it might seem that the Nipponese pair felt well compensated for their sojourn in this city, when they entrained last night for Utica, where they will compete in the New York State tournament, which starts today.

Hard Schedule for Japs.

The local stand was the first tournament play that the islanders have competed in since their arrival in the country. They have before them, however, a long and a hard schedule of play. Starting with the Utica matches, they will compete in all of the larger Eastern tourneys, during the summer, not to mention exhibition matches in some of the Western cities. Their itinerary is being arranged by Irving and Beals Wright.

The Mongolian stars will have no easy time during this week. Players such as Willis E. Davis, the new national clay court champion; Clarence Griffin and Roland Roberts will struggle for the Empire State supremacy. While in the East the foreigners will take up grass court play in order that they may compete in the National tourney. Their trip is being so arranged that they will not meet players of the Western circuit, or Clontier stamp on the green turf until later in the season.

Naturally, their defeat at the hands of Cannon and Lindauer surprised and disappointed many persons as to their ability. The Japs played wonderful tennis and so did the winners; but there is no doubt that the aliens were a bit off of their game.

Oriental Lost to Weaker Pair.

Only two days before the Japs defeated the same team, 6-2, 6-2. On Friday Teacher and Newell forced Cannon and Lindauer to five stiff sets before the latter survived the play. After the grueling match of Saturday afternoon, the losers went straight back on the courts and eliminated the Kansas City pair in straight sets. Cannon and Lindauer got the jump in the match, the audience was with them, and probably a few other matters combined to prove their undoing. It is not improbable that the Oriental team could defeat their opponents of Saturday no less than four times in five matches.

However, those who watched the players were not of the belief that the foreigners would walk away with any American tennis honors. Jack Cannon, a veteran star of this section, and one of the few players who gave Kumagae a real struggle, said that they were wonderful defensive players but lacked the aggressiveness to beat the American stars. He said: "They shoot a great game from the back court, but will not come to the net, which is necessary to beat men of the McLaughlin and Williams stamp."

"First Rank Players."—Wright.

George M. Wright of Boston, a power in American tennis circles, who witnessed the play, said: "These players are of the first magnitude. I have never seen players cover a court better than they do or possess a greater tennis instinct. They know what to play and how to play it. With a bit of experience on American courts they, especially Kumagae, will rank well."

William Connert, former city and State champion: "They are good players. According to Williams, 'Humpty' Cannon, Teacher, Newell, Grinstead and Benson all left for their home cities, while Uhlis and Webster departed on Friday. The visitors were all well impressed with the play and expressed the opinion that it was the best tournament ever held in this city. This was no doubt the case. Not for a long time have there been such large crowds turned out for the matches. The aggregate attendance at the morning and afternoon matches for the tourney was about 7000 persons.

WELSH AND WHITE TO FIGHT ANOTHER TEN-ROUND BATTLE

Match Set for Minneapolis July 21 Will Be Fourth Decision, Less Meeting.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Convicted that there is no hope of luring Freddie Welsh into the ring to defend his title in a round contest, Manager Nate Lewis announced that he had decided to make through with the proposed 10-round battle between Welsh and Charlie White in Minneapolis on July 21. It will be their fourth meeting.

"I can't help it if there is a man out about another 10-round match," Lewis said. "I have done everything I could to get a 20-round fight, and now I have about given up hope."

Pollok Refuses Promise.

"I had a long talk with Harry Pollok, Welsh's manager, and saw no prospect of anything longer than a round contest to be made out of it. White departed last night for Minneapolis, where, on Tuesday night, he meets Welsh in 12 rounds to a decision. Welsh returns to Chicago on Wednesday, where he leaves for Minneapolis. In the space of 17 days he will have met three of the best fighters in the ring. Grifiths, Wells and Welsh. He has traveled more than 1000 miles in 17 days. Two out of the three battles, he has won. He is a very practical, waterweight. Certainly Charlie can't be accused of not fighting nowdays.

Ten Rounds Only Hope.

"We will make every possible effort to have the championship in 10 rounds, since it is impossible to go the derby distance. I think that the battle with Griffiths and Wells will be a very close one. It is a very close thing as a title changing battle. It is a battle to be fought in the ring, not in the newspaper. According to Williams, 'Humpty' Cannon, Teacher, Newell, Grinstead and Benson all left for their home cities, while Uhlis and Webster departed on Friday. ### RODGERS RETAIN LEAD

Johnson's Men Went Through Past Seven Days Without Suffering a Defeat.

The leading Superbas and Yankees continued their fast pace in the major league last week. Robinson's crew went along without suffering a defeat, while putting five box scores on the left side of the ledger. The Yankees, on the other hand, lost to the Nationals 4-1 and being noosed out 2-1 by the Sox last Saturday. The Superbas, however, all their victories at the expense of the Giants and Reds.

The Sox going nicely. While the Yanks set a fast pace in the Red Sox went just as fast. Carigan's outfit losing only one game in six times to the post. The Sox, however, are a great deal better than the Yankees, and are changing hands in the bookmaker's office.

Jack Dillon to Fight Levinsky, Then Take Rest

Giant Killer Gets $5000 for Fighting Shifty Heavy Weight at Baltimore Friday.

Jack the Giant Killer Dillon will be on the job again this week. Friday night he meets Battling Levinsky at Baltimore in a 15-round contest, with a $5000 win, lose or draw guarantee as his "bit."

These men have met at least three times in the past and Dillon owns a decision over Levinsky, earned in a 15-round bout in Montana. Dillon seems to hold his clever opponent safe on past performance.

Following this bout Dillon will take a two months' rest, he has announced. He can afford to. Between June 22 and July 24, a trifle over two weeks, Dillon will have taken in $20,000.

Eddie Evers, who is to oppose Harry Kabbakoff at the Motorbome boxing show next Thursday night, is expected to reach the city today.

Harry Alwood worked out at the Future City A. C. yesterday with Jimmy Curtis. He is expected to show the crowd a fine performance. His work is said to have greatly pleased Matchmaker Sullivan of the Future City.

Alwood and Bobby Burns will furnish the feature contest at the Future City A. C. tomorrow.

The Browns, minus their spark plug, Johnny Evers, yesterday drove Jim Vaughn, the Sox star, to cover and beat the Browns for the second straight time, 2-1. Arthur Nehf was on the hill for the Browns and allowed his team a triple and an infield out in the fourth frame saved Tinker's men from a defeat.

And Tony came through with another result yesterday and shut out the Sox in the first half of a twin bill. Tony was opposed by the veteran Al Combs. In the second clash, Herzog beat two rookies—Blue Jacket and Twining—while Brooks won behind Musgrave, 11-5.

Ragtime Runs Riot. THE old-time songs, I cannot sing. For, in my throat there is a roar. But I can chirp the latest thing. A lyric gem called "Walkin' the Dog."

I would not dare to take a chance On bringing "Bonnie Doon" to life; But I will warble: "I Can Dance With Everybody But My Wife."

"The Harp That Once Through Tara's Hall" I cannot sing in minor key; But, friends, you ought to hear me bawl: "Roll Your Tiddish Eyes for Me."

I cannot sing a lyric foot Of "My Sweet Nellie's Eyes Are Blue;" But I'm a bear at singing: "Put Your Arms Around Me, Lindy Lou."

On "Danube River," "Old Black Joe" And "Annie Laurie" there's a ban; But in cadenzas, soft and low, I'll sing: "The Ragtime Pipe of Pan."

The ragtime melody is rife; We jog our jerky way along. The world is upside down and life Is one sweet syncopated song.

Monday. BEAUTIFUL Sunday! I wish it would never come Monday! 'Cause the loeman never comes on Monday mornin' No, it's not so very nice To have to go without your ice. When ye have a burnin' thirst on Monday mornin'.

Still there are worse days than Monday. For instance, Tuesday, when the Fourth of July falls on Monday.

Business seems to be somewhat "slack" in the Interstate League.

The Browns might lose every game they play but Fielder Jones can give you a detailed description of every ball that was pitched from April 12 to Oct. 1. Fielder can tell you the exact number of times his pitchers pitched wrong to the batter and the number of times his batters swung at the wrong kind of ball, with an uncanny accuracy that marks him as the world's greatest "it" manager.

PRINTER'S MISTAKE LETS 300 FANS SEE GAME FREE. Some 300 Cleveland baseball fans were made happy last Sunday as a result of an amusing but costly printer's mistake. It was the custom of the management of the Cleveland Indians to number the score cards and each day three numbers are designated whose holders are entitled to a free ticket for the game on the ensuing day.

On Saturday, a week ago, through an error of the printer, who publishes the score card, the lucky numbers were printed between 300 and 400 times. The mistake was not discovered until the game was over, and a small army of fans descended on the box office for tickets.

The management was dumfounded when the small army of fans descended on the box office for tickets. The mistake was not discovered until the game was over, and a small army of fans descended on the box office for tickets.

As a result of the blunder more than 300 persons instead of three saw the game free of charge.

Players Did Not Fight. C. A. Vogel, manager of the Vogels of the South Side League, yesterday denied reports that players of his team had been engaged in a fight yesterday. Vogel also said that he was under the impression his club played its second game, and that for reason was not on the field until 1:30, 20 minutes late. Grand-Gravois, though, demanded a forfeit.

Hannibal and Rock Island yesterday battled 22 innings in their Thresh-L League contest, before Hannibal was returned the winner, 3-2. This is one round longer than the N. L. record and just two short of the N. L. record set by the Athletics and Red Sox in 1909.

Japan, California and New York Represented in Utica Net Tourney

UTICA, N. Y., July 10.—Six Californians and the two Japanese now touring the tennis courts of America, together with some of the leading players of the East, are entered for the New York State tennis championship, which began here today.

The California players are Willis E. Davis, the national play-court champion in singles; Roland Roberts, who holds the San Francisco championship; H. Van Dike Johns, Clarence J. Griffin, Eugene Warren and J. H. McCormick. The presence of the Japanese players, Mitsui and Kumagai, adds unusual interest to the championship, because of their recent successes. William McHenry of Pittsburgh, the holder of the title, will defend it. Harold Throckmorton is among those entered from New York City.

Hodge Defeats Two Champions. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 10.—R. W. Hodge of Kansas City, golf champion of Missouri, defeated two other champions in winning the invitation tournament here yesterday, at which Alden E. Smith of St. Joseph was host. Hodge won from Harlow Hurley of Topeka, the Kansas title holder, in the first round, and defeated Swift, Transmississippi champion, in the final, one up in 15 holes.

Looks Like Connie Mack is out to establish a big league record this year. Connie has won 17 and lost 10 and the season last half over.

Tearing Loose. The Cards' patched up team sewed up the game in the fifth inning. On the Mend. Whenever Huggins puts a patched up team in the field, they play ripping good ball.

Lee Meadows was swamped but was rescued by "Steamboat" Williams as he was going down for third time.

Those Phils started to trimming Meadows as though they had been taking a correspondence course in landscape gardening.

American Derby, Value $10,000, to Be Run Saturday

Racing Classic, Famous 10 Years Ago, Will Be Revived at Hawthorne Saturday.

CHICAGO, July 10.—The revival of the American Derby, which is scheduled to be run at Hawthorne, Saturday, as the opening gun of the 15-day race meeting, took on actuality today with the arrival of the first of the great horses entered for the derby event. George Smith, with his trainer, Hollis Hughes, came in from Aqueduct today. Dodge, winner of the Latonia derby, is due today, as well as Franklin So-lar Star, Berlin and Sedan.

Everything is practically ready for the 800 horses which are expected. The meeting will open with a five and one-half mile race for 3-year-olds and up, purse $600. The second is a selling race for 3-year-olds at auction for $1200. The third is for 3-year-olds and for 2-year-olds at five furlongs and then comes the derby, valued at $10,000.

Following the feature even will be a mile and a sixteen handicap known as the Hotel Sherman subscription for $300, and the sixth and final event of the day is also a mile and a sixteen mile race for 3-year-olds and upward. The winner to be sold at auction for $1500.

Urban Faber Goes East. CHICAGO, July 10.—Urban Faber, pitcher, and Fred McMillan, infielder, who have been in the minors, have been dispatched to Boston to join the White Sox. President Comiskey announced today.

Looks Like Connie Mack is out to establish a big league record this year. Connie has won 17 and lost 10 and the season last half over.

After He Saves Girl Learning to Swim.

Three men were drowned yesterday near St. Louis, one in the Mississippi River near St. Charles, one in the Meramec near Castlemore, St. Louis County, and a negro in Cahokia Creek in East St. Louis.

Herman Huffman, 33 years old, an automobile salesman of St. Charles, was drowned in a slough of the Mississippi near the mouth of Dardennes Creek, five miles northwest of St. Charles, after he had saved from drowning Miss Agnes Hencke of St. Charles, who had accompanied him to the Seeburger Club, near which the accident occurred.

Miss Hencke was learning to swim and accidentally got into deep water. Huffman went to her assistance and was able to lift and push her into shallow water. Apparently exhausted by the exertion of rescuing her, he fell back into deep water and was drowned.

Miss Hencke summoned men in the vicinity, but they had been unable to find the body by this morning.

Herbert J. Glat, 22, a stenographer of 667 Morgan street, lost his life in the Meramec.

Glat was one of a party of two men and two women who went to the Meramec for a swim. He was the first to be put on a bathing suit and entered the water alone. Almost immediately he was swept off his feet by the swift current and disappeared from view of those on the bank.

Expert swimmers dived for the body, but were unable to find it.

Albert Herson, a negro, was drowned when swimming in Cahokia Creek near the Armour packing plant in East St. Louis.

SHOT FIRED AT PRESIDENT OF THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

Self-Styled Anarchist Attempts Assassination at Celebration of Nation's Independence.

BUENOS AIRES, July 10.—An attempt to assassinate President de la Plaza was made yesterday by a self-styled anarchist. The President was standing on a balcony of the Government Building reviewing some troops when a man in the crowd of spectators suddenly drew a revolver and fired at him. The shot went wild and the man was arrested.

The attempt to assassinate the President occurred while Buenos Aires was celebrating the hundredth anniversary of the independence of the Argentine. The President remained standing on the balcony after the shot was fired at him. The man was about to fire again when Col. Rodriguez, Secretary to the Minister of War, seized and disarmed him.

The great crowd of spectators surged forward in an effort to take the man from his guards and lynch him, but was prevented by the soldiers. The man gave his name as Juan Mandrini. He said he was born in Argentina and was 24 years old.

1560 BRITISH WIDOWS AS RESULT OF NAVAL BATTLE

Nearly 40,000 English Women Have Lost Husbands in the War.

LONDON, July 10.—Nearly 40,000 women in this country have already been made widows by the war. When conflict started and Government officials were making estimates of the number of widows that in all probability would be created by the struggle, one of the highest estimates was 30,000. When Lord Kitchener heard of it he told those who were responsible for making provision for the war widows that the estimate was too low, and said that they should make provision for at least 50,000. As a result of the recent naval battle 1560 widows were added to the list of women receiving pensions.

SPEEDERS SHOOT AND KILL KANSAS CITY POLICEMAN

11 CLINICS OPENED TO TEACH CARE OF BABIES IN SUMMER

Pure Milk Commission, Aided by Post-Dispatch Fund, Also Established Substations.

Pure Milk Stations.

THE St. Louis Pure Milk Commission has established the following substations for the convenience of those to whom milk is supplied:

1. Wesley House, 3035 Bell avenue.
2. Jewish Educational Alliance, 901 Carr street.
3. Neighborhood Association, 317 North Nineteenth street.
4. Kingdom House Mission, 1033 South Eighth street.
5. Boyle Memorial Center, 816 North Eleventh street.
6. City Dispensary No. 1, 3141 North Broadway.
7. Bethlehem Congressional Church, 1301 Allen avenue.
8. Markham Memorial Presbyterian Church, Menard and Julia streets.
9. Church of the Holy Communion, 2809 Washington avenue.
10. Holy Cross House, 2901 North Eleventh street.
11. Ebn Ezra Lodge Station, Jefferson avenue and Carr street.
12. Pure Milk Laboratory, 1726 North Thirteenth street.
13. Victor Street Mission, Third and Victor streets.
14. Guardian Angel Settlement, Marion and Menard streets.
15. Open Door Settlement, 1503 Hebert street.
16. Father Dempsey's Settlement, 1209 North Sixth street.
17. Mound City Social Settlement Association, 225 Randolph street.

CONTRIBUTIONS.

Previously acknowledged $850 00

Extending its facilities to meet the increased demand as a result of the high temperatures, the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission has opened 19 substations for the distribution of pure milk among the babies, in the homes of the very poor.

The commission has also established 11 clinics at widely scattered points in the city, where trained nurses especially qualified for the purpose, will exemplify the proper feeding and nursing of infants in hot weather.

The latter is an additional aid in the care of babies during the season when every precaution is essential to protection against maladies peculiar to summer, the commission heretofore maintaining a clinic only at its headquarters, 1726 North Thirteenth street. This has been of incalculable benefit to mothers and is believed to have been the direct means of saving the lives of many little ones. Convinced of this great good from the one, and realizing that it could be vastly extended through carrying the clinics to those too remote to profit from them in the one place, the commission decided to branch out.

The substations for the distribution of pure milk are a part of the regular summer system, designed to meet abnormal requirements for the babies during the reign of hot weather. But at other seasons the demand is well taken care of through arrangement, when necessary, with dependable milk dealers for delivery of the standard pure milk to homes of the poor.

This is the work which the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, an established institution toward the maintenance of which thousands of girls and boys and hundreds of grown people are enlisted for personal effort and individual contribution of money, sustains from year to year. Through this organization the infant death rate in St. Louis has been steadily lowered until last year it was below that of any other city in the United States.

The high temperature ruling thus far this summer and expected to prevail until the end of the regular season for it, calls for the widest scope of endeavor and personal generosity that has yet marked the operations of the fund. More than $2000 is yet to be raised if the lives of the babies are to be saved, as it is the hope and design to save them.

'FIANCEE' READY TO FORGIVE SISTER, GRAHAM'S BRIDE

Miss Vera Shore Declares She Will Welcome Bride and Her Husband Home.

AWAITS AN EXPLANATION

Says a Letter Is on Way From Michigan, Where Couple Went.

Miss Vera Elizabeth Shore, who got a divorce from Edward J. Snowden two weeks ago, to become betrothed to Harry B. Graham, wealthy paper manufacturer, showed little resentment at the unexpected marriage of her fiancé and sister, Miss Georgine Marion Shore, at Algonac, Mich., Saturday afternoon.

Though somewhat in a quandary at the turn of events, Miss Shore, at her home, 622 Westminster place, today had apparently taken a philosophical view of the affair, and said she was more cheerful and hopeful than for many days. The mother, Mrs. George Marion Shore, anxiously awaits a letter of explanation from the eloping couple, said to be in the mail.

In view of the gossip over the elopement of Graham and her sister, Miss Shore made a written statement for a Post-Dispatch reporter as follows:

"The marriage of Harry B. Graham, who was betrothed to me, and my sister, whom I dearly love, was a circumstance over which I had no control and do not understand or undertake to explain, but which I must accept as a matter of course. Nothing remains to be said or done by me. I resign myself with fortitude to the sincere hope that all will be as well for them as I hoped it would be for me. The affair was a great shock to mother and me, for we are only human, and I have given over trying to understand it. Consequently I must resign myself to the inevitable."

"When Mr. Graham and his wife return I shall receive them as brother and sister, and with wholehearted concern for their happiness, for there is no resentment in my heart."

Marriage Set for July 23.
Miss Vera Shore was to have been married to Graham in this city July 23, and was at work on her trousseau when she received a letter marked "urgent" from Algonac, Mich., in which she said she had been married to Graham and that a letter of explanation was in the mail. Miss Vera Shore said she had introduced her fiancé to her sister only a few weeks ago, and had never noticed Graham pay any marked attention to her. She said the two had taken automobile rides together and had met at parties at the Snowden home, on Clara avenue. And she recalled, they had played golf together.

Graham, said Miss Georgine Marion Shore, who is 23 years old, a close friend and supporter of Roach, Phelps and Shannon for many years have lined up for the same candidates.

Kinney's Stand Discarded.
In St. Louis it was reported that Senator Michael Kinney also had deserted Roach and had gone to Atkinson. Kinney said today he had never espoused the cause of any candidate.

Politicians say Kinney is with Roach and will remain with him unless he is convinced that Roach has no chance. They say that even if he quits Roach, he will not go to Atkinson, and will likely be for Gardner.

T. R. ASKS FOR PERMISSION TO RECRUIT HIS DIVISION

NEW YORK, July 10.—Col. Roosevelt, regardless of the strengthening signs of peace, has made formal application to the War Department for permission to recruit a division of troops—30,000 strong—in the event of war with Mexico.

The Colonel's application is as yet a department secret—guarded as carefully at Oyster Bay as at Washington, but from private sources of information its salient features have been learned.

The Colonel asks for authority to recruit a so-called "reinforced division of infantry" to include one brigade of cavalry, two brigades of infantry, one regiment of field artillery, one regiment of motor cycle machine guns, one regiment of engineers, one aeroplane squadron and a complete field hospital corps.

MAN KILLS HIMSELF; THREE WOMEN TRY TO END LIVES

Former Street Car Conductor Shoots Himself After Worry Over Lack of Employment.

One man shot himself to death yesterday and three women went to the city hospital as the result of attempts to end their own lives.

John Tintley, 38 years old, of 4129A Obeare avenue, until recently employed as a conductor by the United Railways Co., shot himself in the head in the basement of his home. He was worried over being out of employment.

Mrs. Nettie Belleston, 30 years old, of 2713 Thomas street turned on the gas in the kitchen range. Her husband found her in time to save her life. She had been suffering from melancholia.

I. V. L. HAS MAN FOR COMMITTEE IN 21ST WARD

Anti-Catholic League Backs C. L. Bradley Against Herman Bader, Present Member.

HOLDS SECRET MEETING

W. J. Mills Permanent Chairman of Organization in Ward—Membership Is Limited.

The Post-Dispatch has learned that the mysterious Independent Voters' League, formed for the purpose of defeating all Catholics at elections, has formed an organization in the Twenty-first Ward, the third city ward it has entered in its campaign to gain control of the Republican City Committee.

The present committeeman from the ward is Herman Bader, proprietor of a saloon at Grand avenue and Hebert street, who has been identified with Republican politics in St. Louis for many years.

Some of those whose names have been published by the Post-Dispatch heretofore in connection with the activities of the secret league, who live in the ward, are Charles T. Burgess, head of the Burgess Printing Co., in the Bonstet Building, who lives at 3501 Greer avenue; U. G. Robinson of 3301 Sullivan avenue, whose name was mentioned by Stephen Gilmore in connection with the distribution of the stickers at the home of Dr. L. C. McElwee, 1221 North Grand avenue, in the campaign against Dr. John H. Simon, and Greene F. Harding, known as the active head of the secret organization, who lives at 2011 East Fair avenue.

The organization formed by the league in the ward is known as the "Twenty-first Ward Good Government Association," and its meetings are held Monday evening in Wausmann's Hall, Warne and Kosuth avenues.

The first meeting of the association was held May 1, with Greene F. Harding acting as chairman. The permanent officers elected were W. J. Mills, chairman, C. T. Burgess, first vice chairman, F. W. Evers, second vice chairman, Charles L. Bradley, secretary, Robert W. Moore, treasurer, and A. J. Hasenjaeger, sergeant at arms.

Charles L. Bradley of 3723 Palm street, a former city employee, is the association's candidate for the committee. Bradley has for years been identified with the regular Republican organization in the ward.

The meetings of the association are held behind locked doors, according to Edward Wausmann, manager of the hall in which they are held. Wausmann, who is a worker in the regular Republican organization of the ward and is a judge of elections, made application for membership in the association but was rejected, he said.

In telling of the activities of the association, Wausmann said: "Charles Bradley came to me and rented the hall for meetings, he said, of an improvement association he was organizing. I asked him the name of the association and he told me he would let me know that later."

"At the first meeting I went into the hall thinking to join the association, as I belong to almost every association in the city, but I found that the meeting announced that only those who were members of the association would be permitted to remain during the full meeting and suggested that those who were not members make application."

"He said that the application would have to be signed by someone who was already a member, so I signed one and asked Bradley if he would vouch for me. He said he would and signed the application."

"I kept waiting in anteroom. There were only five of us who were not members that made application and we were taken into an anteroom, the rest of the men who were not members being asked to leave the hall. About 15 left."

"We five stayed in the ante-room for some time before a man appeared and told the four men who were there with me to come into the main hall, leaving me to stay in the anteroom by myself. I stayed there for more than an hour. When the door was finally opened and I was told the meeting was over, 'Bradley came to me then and told me the association had put the 'kibosh' on me, and I had been rejected. I left the hall and on the outside met one of my friends who had been admitted to membership. I told him they had turned me down and asked him what the organization was for."

"He said: 'Well, as near as I can make out it's an organization to knock the Catholics.' He said he didn't think he'd attend any more meetings of the association."

Wausmann said the meetings of the association have not been largely attended. The other organizations formed for the purpose of trying to elect I. V. L. candidates to the city committee are in the First and Twenty-eighth wards. Peter Anderson is the present representative of the former ward and the regular organization endorsed George W. Stroudman at a meeting last Friday night, he suggested him. F. H. Kohring is the candidate of the I. V. L. organization.

In the Twenty-eighth the secret league's organization has endorsed Percy G. Stout, president of the P. G. Stout and Advertising Co., to oppose Joseph B. Thomas, City Supply Commissioner, for re-election to the committee. Stout denies any connection with the Independent Voters' League.

P. G. Stout Denies He Is a Member of the I. V. L.

Referring to the article which appears in your paper, Sunday July, in which you connect me with the Independent Voters' League, will say this is a falsehood, as I am not connected in any way, and have never even applied for membership at any time.

In this article you connect my name with that of Mr. Mudge, who claims to be a member of the Independent Voters' League. I wish to state that the first time I met Mr. Mudge was about two years ago, when I delivered at his house 5641 Vernon avenue, some cloth signs ordered by Mr. Luke E. Hart, which signs were for Candidates Jos. B. Thomas for the City Central Committee. However, since I have been induced by a great many business men from all over the city to run for the position of Republican Committeeman from the Twenty-eighth Ward, Mr. Mudge phoned me, soliciting funds to promote my candidacy, stating that he controlled several precincts. He further insisted that should I be elected, he must be guaranteed a city job, which seems to be Mr. Mudge's entire interest in political work. I put him off until later, because I did not think he had any social or political standing in the community. This is the only connection I had with Mr. Mudge.

I must, therefore, ask that you fully publish this statement in your next issue to prevent any damage which may accrue to my business through your misstatement of the real facts in the case. Yours very truly, P. G. STOUT.

Kept Waiting in Anteroom.

"He said: 'Well, as near as I can make out it's an organization to knock the Catholics.' He said he didn't think he'd attend any more meetings of the association."

Wausmann said the meetings of the association have not been largely attended. The other organizations formed for the purpose of trying to elect I. V. L. candidates to the city committee are in the First and Twenty-eighth wards. Peter Anderson is the present representative of the former ward and the regular organization endorsed George W. Stroudman at a meeting last Friday night, he suggested him. F. H. Kohring is the candidate of the I. V. L. organization.

In the Twenty-eighth the secret league's organization has endorsed Percy G. Stout, president of the P. G. Stout and Advertising Co., to oppose Joseph B. Thomas, City Supply Commissioner, for re-election to the committee. Stout denies any connection with the Independent Voters' League.

The meetings of the association are held behind locked doors, according to Edward Wausmann, manager of the hall in which they are held. Wausmann, who is a worker in the regular Republican organization of the ward and is a judge of elections, made application for membership in the association but was rejected, he said.

In telling of the activities of the association, Wausmann said: "Charles Bradley came to me and rented the hall for meetings, he said, of an improvement association he was organizing. I asked him the name of the association and he told me he would let me know that later."

"At the first meeting I went into the hall thinking to join the association, as I belong to almost every association in the city, but I found that the meeting announced that only those who were members of the association would be permitted to remain during the full meeting and suggested that those who were not members make application."

"He said that the application would have to be signed by someone who was already a member, so I signed one and asked Bradley if he would vouch for me. He said he would and signed the application."

"I kept waiting in anteroom. There were only five of us who were not members that made application and we were taken into an anteroom, the rest of the men who were not members being asked to leave the hall. About 15 left."

"We five stayed in the ante-room for some time before a man appeared and told the four men who were there with me to come into the main hall, leaving me to stay in the anteroom by myself. I stayed there for more than an hour. When the door was finally opened and I was told the meeting was over, 'Bradley came to me then and told me the association had put the 'kibosh' on me, and I had been rejected. I left the hall and on the outside met one of my friends who had been admitted to membership. I told him they had turned me down and asked him what the organization was for."

"He said: 'Well, as near as I can make out it's an organization to knock the Catholics.' He said he didn't think he'd attend any more meetings of the association."

Wausmann said the meetings of the association have not been largely attended. The other organizations formed for the purpose of trying to elect I. V. ## LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Soldiers' Families in Need.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Our investigation this week discloses the fact that 362 soldiers from St. Louis, of the 1600 who have gone to the front, leave dependent families suffering for the bare necessities of life, and this number no doubt will be increased by a further investigation.

Our soldiers are making the supreme sacrifice for our country, and those at home must realize their patriotic obligation to support these families. This duty does not admit of discussion, and is as urgent as the necessities of the dependents. In the midst of plenty, we do not realize the want and distress at our very doors, suffered by those who have every claim upon our consideration, sympathy and support.

The purpose of this letter is to challenge your attention sharply to this state of facts, and to ask you to perform a high duty. Through no fault of either the soldiers or their families this condition exists. The bread-winner is gone, responding to his country's call, and the $15 paid him each month by the Government will not support his family.

Clearly it will be a national humiliation and disgrace if we permit the helpless to suffer for the cause of our country, while we benefit by the sacrifices of our brave men. Let each man and woman in this community give to this cause from a sense of the highest patriotic duty. Ask yourself the simple question, whether you would feel that the community is treating your family fairly if, while at the front, your wife and children or other dependents were suffering the pangs of hunger, of want and of neglect.

The committee is earnestly endeavoring to secure subscriptions from the employers for this purpose, but many employers are in no position to continue the payment of the salaries to their employees who have gone to the front, and it is manifestly unfair that the whole burden should be placed upon the employers when the entire community is benefited by the services of the soldiers. In a large number of the cases, the soldier with a dependent family has no fixed employer, and we, for his family, must appeal to the general public for relief. We have received a number of subscriptions guaranteeing fixed amounts monthly for a period of six months. Please make all checks payable to Edward Whitaker, treasurer, and indicate on the enclosed card how much you will contribute, in what amount, and at what intervals.

He gives twice, who gives quickly.
M. L. WILKINSON,
Chairman, Executive Committee, Citizens' National Guard Committee.

Interior Street Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Can you advise if the city of St. Louis is too poor to dress their macadam streets with gravel as formerly? Cook avenue east of Grand was scraped, a small amount of new macadam filled in low places, then a layer of gravel was spread over this. This is certainly a fine way to treat a residential street by a first-class city. Traffic grinds ashes to a fine black dust in short time and this is blown into our homes; whereas gravel and sand give a substantial and lasting surface. Of course ashes cost nothing but no reduction in taxes is noted. Do you think it possible Cook avenue is figured out of the silk stocking district and needs little attention?

ANTHONY PATMORE.

Proposed Ash Can Law.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There is before the Board of Aldermen a proposed law which would compel St. Louisans to buy metal ash cans of limited size. I do not know who is back of this law, and while there may be some merit in such a can, I want to protest against any further expense being saddled upon the home owners of this city until it is demonstrated that the burdens already imposed upon them are justified.

A few years ago a law was enacted providing for metal garbage cans. A few of the householders had sufficient consideration for the public health to buy cans and keep them in good condition, but of what good is their efforts when their neighbors all around them use chip baskets, boxes, etc.

If a law as important to the public health as is the sanitary storage and handling of garbage, cannot be enforced, how can a law governing ash cans be enforced? F. F. EDWARD.

THE DEUTSCHLAND'S VOYAGE.

International statutes guaranteeing enlarged uses of the sea in time of war and increased immunities for the property of noncombatants afford have been the object of peace conferences at The Hague and marine conferences elsewhere for a generation.

Some advances were made over the old drastic regulations and practices of the past. Then, under the stress of war, they all broke down. The allies have just formally abrogated all the understandings of the London Maritime Conference after disregarding most of them since the fighting opened.

But it may be that in inventing and perfecting a submersible craft, Lake and Holland have done more to safeguard a genuine freedom of the seas and soften the shortages and famines of war for civilian populations than the statesmen and publicists of several centuries. The machine shop may be about to score over the chancelleries.

For, if one submersible like the Deutschland can come through beleaguered waters from Heligoland to Baltimore heavily laden with the things of which markets are in impenetrable need, what may not whole fleets of like vessels do? Manifestly, running blockades becomes a very different matter from what it was even during the early and most favorable period of our Civil War. New Mahans may be required to revise the generalizations as to the preponderant influence of sea control from the sea's surface. It is easy to believe that from the completion of the Deutschland's difficult undertaking many important innovations will date.

The world will not withhold warm admiration for the initiative and daring that adapted this type of marine construction to the purposes of commerce and the navigation that solved all the problems of her record-breaking trip and caused the longest voyage ever made by a submarine to be a voyage of peace rather than war.

In this brilliant exploit the German merchant marine has matched the resourcefulness of the German navy. And no higher commendation drawn from the analogies of the present war could be framed.

What a wardrobe Gov. Major would have carried to the vice presidency!

NEWSBOYS AND BARTHOLO.

Our compliments once more to Hon. Richard Bartholdi, who recently disparaged the Magna Charta in a public address. At the time we remarked that every half-way intelligent boy in Mr. Bartholdi's audience knew that America is indebted to Magna Charta as the dawning of Anglo-Saxon liberties. We find this corroborative paragraph written by a newsboy in the esteemed Father Dunne's News Boys' Journal:

The great paper, the Magna Charta of America, should be known by every child of the republic, and committed to memory in early youth, that its principles and spirit may guide him through life, teaching him to love liberty and respect the liberty of others. Equally with the Declaration of Independence, Magna Charta is a heritage of American liberty—the Declaration of Independence rests upon it.

The European persistent fighting is called pounding. Anyhow, it pulverizes civilization.

THE STATUS OF LABOR.

In his recent address at the dedication of the American Federation of Labor Building at Washington, President Wilson referred to the Clayton anti-trust law and, by inference, to the recent decision of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, as to the status of labor.

The Clayton law declares that "the labor power of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce."

The Massachusetts Supreme Court, in a recent decision, affirmed "that the right to work is property cannot be regarded longer an open question." And the President said: "I am sorry that there were any Judges in the United States who had to be told that labor is not a commodity. It is so obvious that it seems to me that that section of the Clayton act was a return to the primer of human liberty, but if Judges have to have the primer opened before them, I am willing to open it."

Under the circumstances, the United States Supreme Court will have a delicate job before it, in deciding whether, in its view, labor is property, a commodity, as the Massachusetts Judges held it, or "a personal and not a property right," as the American Federation of Labor desires it to be construed, in the model law it is fighting for, and which Massachusetts has rejected.

Deutschland is now ready to dye for us.

SEASICK IN THE TRENCHES.

The breaking of water pipes caused Germans marooned in the trenches to suffer much from thirst, but the failure to eat was not due in every case to lack of food, much being stored in underground quarters. A captured Bavarian captain made this statement to a Post-Dispatch correspondent.

The constantly bursting shells caused such atmospheric concussion and detonations of the earth that officers and men were sickened and nauseated by the incessant trembling. During three days the Germans were listless and apathetic and took no nourishment.

The rocking of the earth produced by the tremendous explosions was so great that the men actually became seasick in the trenches! Perhaps no other passage in the war news has given as vivid idea of what bombardment with modern weapons means.

GUARDSMEN'S NEEDY FAMILIES.

Down on the sweltering Mexican line St. Louis militiamen are on guard, risking health and perhaps life for the good of their country. And 863 families of these soldiers are not sure of the money to pay rent on their homes. Three thousand dollars is needed to meet this demand and in order to pay insurance premiums on the lives of the absent breadwinners.

Until the Government makes legal provision for the needs of families of soldiers on duty at the front, as is done in Europe, the patriotic public should do what is needed. As the Citizens' National Guard Committee says, these men are making the supreme sacrifice for our country, and it is both an obligation and a privilege for those who stay at home and take no risk to see to it that their families shall not suffer because of this sacrifice. We were ashamed, last week, when those poor fellows who had attempted to enlist but were unable to pass the physical test returned to St. Louis in cast-off clothing and penniless. There should be no more neglect of the kind. What the Government fails to do must be done by each community where the need exists.

Next to Great Britain and Canada, Germany was our best customer before the war. The submarine trade is highly important.

HANK WEEKE.

The new charter, with its provision for an efficiency system, was adopted by the people of St. Louis to rid the city of the extravagant, wasteful partisan spoils system. It was intended to eliminate the barnacles and unfit officials who hold office through friendship and political pulls. It was intended to give St. Louis an economical, efficient municipal management.

Mayor Kiel supported the charter, and pledged his administration to enforce it, and thus raise the standard of municipal economy and efficiency. Yet, through his influence, Hank Weeke was appointed to a lucrative office, and holds it without submitting to the efficiency test, in defiance of the charter.

The chairman of the Efficiency Board, who has insisted upon the enforcement of the charter's efficiency provision, and who tried to apply it to Hank Weeke, is to be retired by the Mayor.

The firing of a faithful efficiency officer, and the retention of a politician, through the nullifying of the efficiency law—what heavier blow could be struck at the charter?

If the fate of Belgium has so moved mankind that no small state shall ever see a repetition of such history, the mad war will not have been in vain.

BIG JUMP IN PRIVATE INCOMES.

The July distribution of dividends and of interest on securities made by railroad, utility and industrial corporations and banks, including interest on the indebtedness of the Government and the city of New York, totals $292,372,540. This sum is more than $22,000,000 in excess of the distribution from the same sources in July of last year.

If the national prosperity has shown an amazing increase—it is so real and so firmly established that it is accepted as a matter of course in all viewpoints other than the political—the number of those enjoying the larger rewards of prosperity has also increased. For instance, the total number of stockholders in the railroads has now grown to 626,122. As the average holding of each stockholder is $13.796, there must be a large number of modest holdings to balance those running up into the hundreds of thousands and even millions.

And the railroads' portion of the increased interest and dividends distribution is very large. This is one of the most successful years in railroad history and marks for the first time a complete recovery from the Republican hard times of 1907. The increase in railroad revenue per mile ranges from 10 per cent to 52.6 per cent, few of the large systems reporting less than 20 per cent.

It may be that those whose private incomes have been enlarged by this increased distribution demand a change in policies and personnel at Washington. It may be that those who will profit by the increasing spending power of these and other large beneficiaries of prosperity demand a change.

But it is not believed to be any such wild and insistent and vociferous demand as to give excessive satisfaction to the party responsible for the business depression of 1907-12.

There is a scientific statement that whenever a shark attacks a man it is through mistake. But no shark has ever been known to apologize.

SHARKS!

There are skeptical minds which still begrudge credence to the shark tales that travel hither from the Atlantic seaboard. They point out that this is the silly season, which was formerly dedicated to the sea serpent. Owing, perhaps, to reduced navigation the latter has not been reported these past two years, and the skeptics have been denied the pleasure of flouting it.

The shark tales come with circumstantiality and much tragic detail, lacking only the proof of eyewitnesses. A bell boy at a summer hotel had his legs bitten off in the sea by something unseen, and the doctor who examined the corpse declared, "from his knowledge of sharks," that it was his opinion a shark had done it. Another death, similar, at a point 30 miles from where the boy was killed, likewise lacked positive testimony of the shark. But the deaths have positively occurred—there can be no hoax about that. And the Atlantic coast believes in the shark or sharks. There is nothing essentially incredible in the presence of sharks on the New Jersey coast.

Kipling declared that the most convincing way to tell an actual but extraordinary thing difficult of belief was to tell it as a lie. Together with two other reporters on shipboard he declares he saw a sea serpent tossed up from the floor of the deep in a dying condition by a submarine volcano. The other two reporters wired the story as a story of fact to their papers, which refused to print it as preposterous. Kipling saved his for a piece of fiction, and a convincing yarn it is. Perhaps it would be just as well to print shark tales as fiction—strange truth may fare better in masquerade.

New ideas are said to be quickly smothered in China. Yet, in our own United States a new idea often has tough luck.

With the largest submarine afloat devoted to commerce with the United States, trade will pick up even more.

IN THE BALANCE.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

MR. ANTWERP ON THE SUBMARINE MERCHANTMAN.

"It looks as if the Germans had availed themselves of some of the points we have raised in the submarine dispute," Mr. Antwerp said. "A merchant submarine has arrived at Baltimore from Heligoland carrying a 1000-ton cargo of dyestuffs, and we are told that others are to follow. The interesting thing about it, aside from the romance of crossing the ocean in that way at a time when the fleets of the allies sweep the surface, is that this submarine is without arms and therefore cannot, in our interpretation of international law, be sunk without warning by enemy warships. Inasmuch as warning is all she needs to disappear, we may assume that there is no legal manner in which such a ship can be taken. She is not going to lie on the surface and let an enemy ship take her, and the Germans will look to us to see that nobody fires on her before an opportunity has been given the crew to escape."

"We have enforced that principle on the high seas, and before the end of the war the Germans will no doubt be obliged to us. They can conduct a regular traffic between German and American ports in this way, and with no greater fear than that of being captured as prizes, they have not very much to worry about. To be sure, they will avoid enemy warships when they can, but it is supposable that when such warships do sight them there will be no mere pot shooting, any more than when a submarine sights an enemy merchantman. All the allied warships on the seas cannot, as I see it, legally interfere with that sort of traffic. It simply embraces an opportunity we ourselves have created, and it is up to us, in my opinion, to see that the Germans go unmolested. I am sure that for my own part, I am very glad of it. I imagine the President is. We have wanted to show the Germans that we are neutral, and only conditions have made it seem to them that we are not."

INTRODUCING THE POSTMASTER AT BARNARD, MO. From the Cass County Leader.

Clyde Perkins, Barnard's newly appointed postmaster, is only 21 years old, yet weighs 415 pounds. He had to make a trip to St. Joe for a special office chair. The other day he tried to drive a Ford car and got so wedged behind the steering wheel that he had to stop the engine and call for help to pry him loose.

Maybe if Villa gets to hammering the Carranzistas right good, the latter will not be so howl-jogged about helping us catch him.

The nomination of Hughes has not changed the name of the Unaffiliated Democrat, published at Linn, Mo.

Mr. Wilson speaks at Detroit today. He will probably say about what Mr. Hughes thinks.

THE EAGLE SCREAMS.

THE beat of feet across the street;
The band of music coming nigh;
The Colonel's horse with prancing feet—
The men are going marching by,
Nor mind the dead and scorching heat,
For the Eagle screams on high!

The young men's cheeks are burning hot,
For they see victory not far,
The old men's cheeks are not so hot,
But see their eyes—how bright they are!
They all are ready to die, or not—
For the Eagle screams out "War!"

Laurel Hill, La. GRAEME BURR.

ITEMS FROM BUZZARDS' NEST HOLLOW.

PRESS PRINDLE fired six revolver shots, last night, arousing the neighborhood. Doc Flinders was among those attracted to the scene. He examined Press, and found that he was breaking out with the measles, which caused the crowd to leave hurriedly.

Miss Lovely Looker unexpectedly attended a social at Honey Bee Hollow recently, and saw her "steady," Bean Bunker, with another girl. She fainted, and it took some time to revive her.

Si Longwhistle won a shoe shine at a raffle Saturday night, and, since he goes barefoot so much, exchanged it for a shave at the barber shop.

Aunt Prue Prindle's dress caught afire, from her oil stove, and burned the hem off. She said the hem was always too deep, anyway.

A Ford machine passed thru town Tuesday, and, while running around the house to see it, Uncle Bill Bunker tripped over the hound and fell, fracturing both knees. It was the first auto that had gotten by him this summer.

Judging by the way the European armies are moving about this Summer, it is going to be hard to say where the second anniversary of the war will probably be celebrated.

Deutschland hunger allies!

HOPE is thy desert, dog, of the underlane,
No mortal reckons on thy pain
Nor needs thy suppliant plea for aid
But coldly spurns thy low domain.
Men preach sermons praising kindly deeds
Done for thee and thy neglected kind,
But thy life here must still creep on
Along by horrors undefined.

Hope is thy desert, like water to fish,
Or even hunks may be to lowly swine;
No realities of life for thee;
No music enters that dulled life of thine.
But in the misery of twilight hours
You drag your melancholly life away,
And in the sorrow of an alley more
You rise to look upon a lightless day!

HERBERT FINLEY.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

BEAUTY CULTURE.

ANKXIOUS.—Ankles cannot be made as quickly as other parts of the body, so it is well not to expect great degrees of fleshiness to enlarge ankles and high instep. But the bulk of more fleshiness lessened considerably by wearing compresses bound on tightly and covered with rubber. This produces profuse perspiration needed for reduction and adds to the beauty about the house for two months a week great improvement will be made. Massage the skin with camellia oil before putting them on and do the whole thing after a warm ankle bath. Bone cannot be reduced. Every exercise upon the feet improves circulation and adds to their beauty and well. So if the feet are properly dancing, walking, running and sports that can be taken, the ankles the same time keeps the leg in good condition. It is larger the more staying in the house and sitting about, that causes feet and ankles to grow bulky. The circulation grows stagnant, so that the feet cannot fall to increase size.

CLEANSING.

I. A. M.—Dry clean white Jersey silk skirt.

THANK YOU.—Tar stain: Wash and rub with turpentine, or kerosene or buttermilk and wash roughly in soapy water.

CONSTANT.—Without knowing exactly what caused the stain, the answer. To wash white crepe de chine use a good lather, made of a white soap and tepid water. If water test will "yellow" the goods. Tepid is just what is needed. Do not rub soap on it, but use water. If necessary, wash with two basins of soap and water. Then water of same temperature. Do not wring, but press in a towel. Then with a moderately hot iron on the wrong side, it will not shrink enough to be noticed. Should the garment be slightly put a piece of red crepe de chine in the saucupan with water vapor strain enough of this into the basin to give a decided pinkish tinge. Waist will be all the prettier for its flesh color, rather than a distinct yellow.

HEALTH HINTS.

NELLIE.—If the laboratory showed that you did not have the disease, we do not see why you are suffering for it. Send us an address, and we will try to help you.

TAP.—The Journal of the American Medical Association recommends pumpkin seeds for the expulsion of tapeworms. Full strength seeds are to be eaten two ounces of which should be finely thoroughly crushed to a fine powder, mixed with a small amount of honey and spread on a thin piece of bread, eaten as an ordinary snack.

Two hours follow with a cathartic. Infusion of pumpkin seed, recommended by some authors, can be given in one or two ounce doses. Pumpkin seed is dependent on a purgative principle, purgative, suppositories, some, but this has not been demonstrated. It may be added that the seed of the pumpkin has been used in the same disease. Deprived of their oil and exhausted by ether, pumpkin seeds yield about 20 per cent of fixed oil, a whole tapeworm forms a long, narrow ribbon-like chain of segments, anchored by its head to the intestinal mucous membrane. It is not regarded as a single animal, but as a mass composed of many individuals all belonging to the same species, but differing in structure and function. The so-called head is adapted for holding the colony in position. The species is variable to occur in man in the gallbladder, or solitary tapeworm. It occupies the cavity of the small intestine where it may attain a length of 10 feet, stretching out of 20 to 25 feet, even comprising over 1000 articulations. Tapeworm may be harbored in the body 20 or 30 years.

(German tenacity strikingly portrayed Kielist (1777-1811) with mastery skill.)

ABOUT the middle of the century there was a man named Michael Kohlhaas of exact justice was so in the end it made him, most terrible man in Germany.

One day he was riding beautiful horses to the two of his best geldings quite illegally, by a Baron and his groom. Here, treated.

Kohlhaas made no complaint himself but before long the law that the right was. Then he laid suit matter dragged for war and at last he was under various pretenses.

Kohlhaas did not know his influence had precluded him from reaching authorities. He declared not live in a land with inhabitants the protest and prepared to sell farms.

Then his wife prevailed upon him to return home, but she returned home guard having injured him trying to prevent her from coming to the ruler.

Kohlhaas had been a trader. Hardly had he the great tomb that he informed him that he had been a trader.

The Horse Trader's Demand for Justice

A Story of German Tenacity

(German tenacity in adherence to a conviction never has been more strikingly portrayed than in the story "Michael Kohlhaas" by Heinrich von Kleist (1777-1811). It is a stirring tale of a popular rebellion, depicted with masterly skill.)

ABOUT the middle of the sixteenth century there lived on the banks of the Havel a rich horse dealer named Michael Kohlhaas, whose sense of exact justice was so dominating that in the end it made him, for a time, the most terrible man in Germany.

One day as he was taking a drove of beautiful horses to the Leipzig fair, two of his best geldings were seized, quite illegally, by a Baron von Tronka, and his groom, Herse, was sorely mistreated.

Kohlhaas made no complaint until he had assured himself by the most painful consideration and examination of the law that the right was wholly on his side. Then he laid suit in Dresden. The matter dragged for weeks, for months, and at last his own lawyers withdrew under various pretexts.

Kohlhaas did not know that Von Tronka's influence had prevented his complaint from reaching the supreme authorities. He declared that he would stir up a land which denied to its inhabitants the protection of its laws, and prepared to sell his houses and farms.

Then his wife prevailed on him to let her lay a petition before the Elector of Brandenburg himself. She succeeded, but she returned home to die, a stupid guard having injured her fatally while trying to prevent her from gaining access to the ruler.

Kohlhaas buried her, more as if she had been a Princess than the wife of a trader. Hardly had she been laid in the great tomb that he had built, when the answer to his petition arrived. It informed him that he could obtain his horses at Castle Tronka and ordered him to consider the affair closed.

Told Kohlhaas would not do. The horses had been inhumanly worked, and he would not accept them until they had been restored to their original condition. He sat down in his lonely house and wrote to Baron von Tronka, ordering him to bring the animals to him within three days in person, and serve with them till they were as good as they had been.

There was loud laughter in Castle Tronka when the letter arrived; but at the end of the three days the courtyard suddenly was forced by eight powerful, armed men—Kohlhaas and his seven servants—while he himself rushed into the castle to seek the Baron, Herse, the groom, ran to the rooms of the Castell, who had been prime mover in the outrage. Even as the other servants set fire to sheds and stables, Herse the dead body of Castell and the castle steward out of the window, and Kohlhaas, in the same moment, killed a young Von Tronka who tried to bar his way.

Luther Promises to Help

Kohlhaas to Get His Rights.

THE old Baron escaped from his dungeon but the sought refuge in a convent. Kohlhaas, with a steadily growing band of adherents, followed and besieged the convent. Again the Baron escaped and again he was pursued.

Men rose everywhere to help the horse dealer, whose name was respected throughout the country. Before long, what had been a mere private quarrel was a great rebellion, and by the time the military forces were called out, the rebels had an army. They defeated the soldiers and besieged Leipzig itself.

Then Martin Luther issued a proclamation against Kohlhaas. Thereupon the horse dealer boldly went to Wittenberg and presented himself. "Most reverent doctor," he said, "I come to disprove your accusation that I am an unjust man. The war I wage is a crime against the community if I have never been an outcast to whom the protection of the law is denied. If my sovereign has not cast me out, I will go to him. Give me a safe conduct and I will press my suit in person."

"What justice dost thou demand?" asked Luther, angrily.

"Chastisement of the nobleman, according to the letter of the law," answered Kohlhaas. "Restoration of the horses to their former condition. Compensation for my servant Herse."

"Mad and terrible man!" exclaimed Martin Luther. "Thy sword hath already been drawn."

Billy Goose the Braggart

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

BILLY GOOSE was a headstrong little goose, and his mother had a hard time to make him mind or keep him out of mischief.

"You are a silly fellow even if you are my son," said his mother. "Some day old Fox will get you and then we will see."

"I'll show you all how smart I am and that I am just as foxy as fox old Fox," said Billy Goose. "He has you all scared to death, but I am not afraid of him; you see I am."

Billy Goose stretched his neck and flapped his wings and stood on his toes looking around for something to say to old Fox.

"He saw old Madam White Hen and her chicks walking along by the water trough, and off they all ran to the bush and he could and then flew up on the side of the trough and flapped his wings in the water."

"Click, click," said Madam White Hen to her chicks, thinking it was raining, and off they all ran to the bush nearby for shelter.

"Ha, ha, ha," laughed naughty Billy Goose, "you thought it was raining fast, didn't you, Madam White Hen. Oh, I fooled you that time."

"You are a bad fellow Billy Goose," said Madam White Hen, coming out from under the bush. "It would serve you right if old Fox did get you and give you a scare, anyway."

"Oh, he won't get me," said Billy Goose. "I'll get away, see if I don't."

"Well, old Fox was waiting outside the barnyard for some of the fowl to come out, and Billy Goose was the one who happened along just as old Fox was peeping out from behind a rock."

At first Billy Goose was terribly frightened, and then he thought he wasn't dead at any rate and he would try and think of something to say to old Fox.

"You certainly gave me a scare at first," said Billy Goose as part as he could be. "I'd rather have you carry me off than old Possum or old Coon; you are much handsomer than either of them."

Old Fox did not answer, so Billy Goose tried again, for the teeth of old Fox were hurting and he knew his time was short if he did not think quickly.

"Oh! Mr. Fox," said Billy Goose, "I have heard you always show your handsome teeth to anyone you are going to eat if they ask you, and before you don't know that, and I'll keep them thinking I was brave and not afraid."

Why the Sky is Blue

PURE blue is blue, because, as Newton tells us, the molecules of the air have the thickness necessary to reflect blue rays. When the sky is not perfectly pure the atmosphere is blended with perceptible vapors, and the diffused light is mixed with a large proportion of white.

OLD Fox was proud of his teeth and his bushy tail, and he could see no reason why he should not make Billy Goose's last hours happy, so he dropped him on the ground and opened his mouth wide; then he turned around and waved his bushy tail, and then turned back to pick up Billy Goose. Of course, he was not there, for he was away back to the barnyard by this time, telling everybody how he fooled old foxy Fox.

"I don't believe a word that silly Billy Goose says," said old Madam Brown Hen. "Old Fox never let go once he got you in his mouth, I know."

"Yes, he did let me go, and I can show you where he bit my wing," said Billy Goose, holding out his injured wing for all of them to see.

"But what did you say to him?" asked all the others.

"Oh! it wouldn't do you any good to know," said Billy Goose. "Old Fox would not be taken in again by the same thing I told him. But I got away didn't I, mother? I told you I would."

And Billy Goose walked away, dragging his wing a little as he went.

"I wouldn't go through that again," he said to himself. "Not for all the mush and corn in the world; but the others

When Uncle Sam Ended a War

THE possibility that the United States may play the part of mediator in bringing the European conflict to an end recalls the most noteworthy event of this kind. It was 11 years ago that Russia and Japan, after a long and costly war in which the latter had been almost uniformly victorious, formally accepted the proposal of President Roosevelt for a peace party.

It was on June 3, 1905, that the President of the United States, offering his friendly offices to the warring powers, and two days later they pledged themselves to accept the offer.

At the invitation of President Roosevelt, the peace conference was held in the United States and the little New Hampshire city of Portsmouth was chosen for the gathering of the peace delegates. The envoys assembled there on the 8th of August, and began a diplomatic warfare in which for a time neither side seemed to gain any advantage.

The matter was eventually taken out of their hands, and the peace, between Tokyo and St. Petersburg, with Washington acting as go-between. The struggle between the envoys ended suddenly on Aug. 23, when Japan made unexpected concessions in the matter of indemnity and the control of the island of Sakhalin. The indemnity claim was waived and the Saghalien controversy satisfactorily compromised, and the treaty of peace was signed on Sept. 5. The result was a diplomatic triumph for Russia, the defeated nation.

Household Hints. A GRIDDLE cake turner is a great help to remove cookies and doughnuts after cutting from the pastry board. The blade is so wide there is no danger of them losing their shape. After mixing a cake carefully beat for five minutes before turning into pan and then let it stand from three to five minutes before putting into oven; this makes a much finer grain.

If wine is split on the tablecloth cover with salt at once and let it stand a few minutes, then rinse in cold water. To wash carafes which are badly stained, half fill with hot soap suds and add a teaspoon of washing soda. Put in some newspapers torn in small pieces. Let stand for several hours and shake occasionally. When they look clear, empty and rinse in hot water.

When in Earnest

I HAVE noticed," said the serious, off-hand philosopher, "that a woman will get a golf dress when she has no intention of playing golf."

"That's so," agreed the man with the auburn whiskers.

"And," continued the off-hand philosopher, "she will get a ball gown when she cares nothing about dancing, and a tennis dress when she wouldn't play tennis for fear she will trockle, and a bathing suit when she has no thought of going into the water, and a riding suit when the very thought of climbing on a horse gives her the chills, and—"

"Yes," interrupted the man with the auburn whiskers, "but when she gets a wedding dress she means business. Ever notice that?"—The Spectator.

Don't Ever Let Anyone Tell You This as New One

HOLD on there," said the leader of the band, stopping the music and turning to the new trombone player. "This won't do at all. You are three bars ahead of the rest of us."

"I know it," replied the trombonist, proudly. "Didn't I tell you I could play to beat the band?"

Habit.

I WASN'T always like this, lady," said the wayfarer at the back door. "They was a time when I had every thing money can buy."

"You poor man! How did you come to this?"

"I'll tell you, lady. My wife used to keep me on the go all the time. One week it would be Newport and the next week it would be Palm Beach or the Adirondacks or else Europe, according to where the society folks happened to be going. We spent all our money that way, and when it was all gone I was so used to travelin' that I just naturally couldn't stop, so I took to trampin'."

Golf Language

HE had come over from France to England and had just been asked to give his views on the ancient game of golf. With much gesticulations he said:

"Ah!" he said, "Your game of golf, yes, I know him. You put on se tunic so red as se English rosbil underneath done. You strap your sack sticks on se back of a boy twice so small as se bag. He scrape a mud pudding to make balance a little white ball. He make three had tries to balance him, then very angry you call aloud, 'Feur!'"

"Then you what you call address se ball, and, ma folf, your address is sometimes of language so make afraid. You strike, and se ball find himself in se bonhair. You call aloud for se nib lunge stick, and beat se ground until your partner say, 'Ho, chuck it!' You say—but my friend, I excuse myself to repeat what you say."

"Ah! my friend, you are a great nation but your golf game gives me what you call se pip!"—Tit-Bits.

Successful.

I HAD to buy a dog to keep the neighbors' chickens from scratching up my garden."

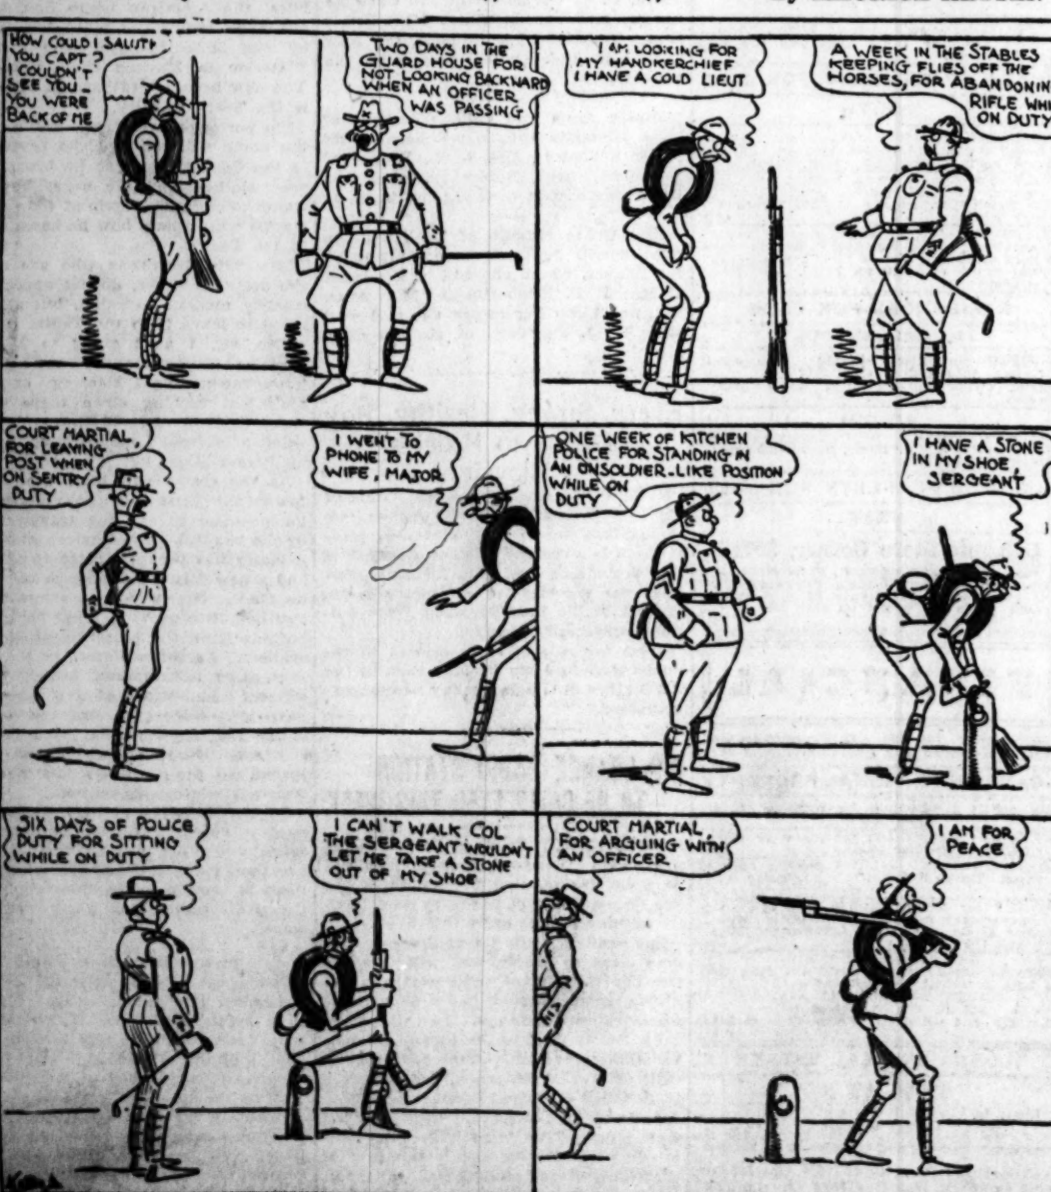

"Did the scheme work?"

"It did. Whenever we find anything dug up in our garden now we know the dog did it himself."

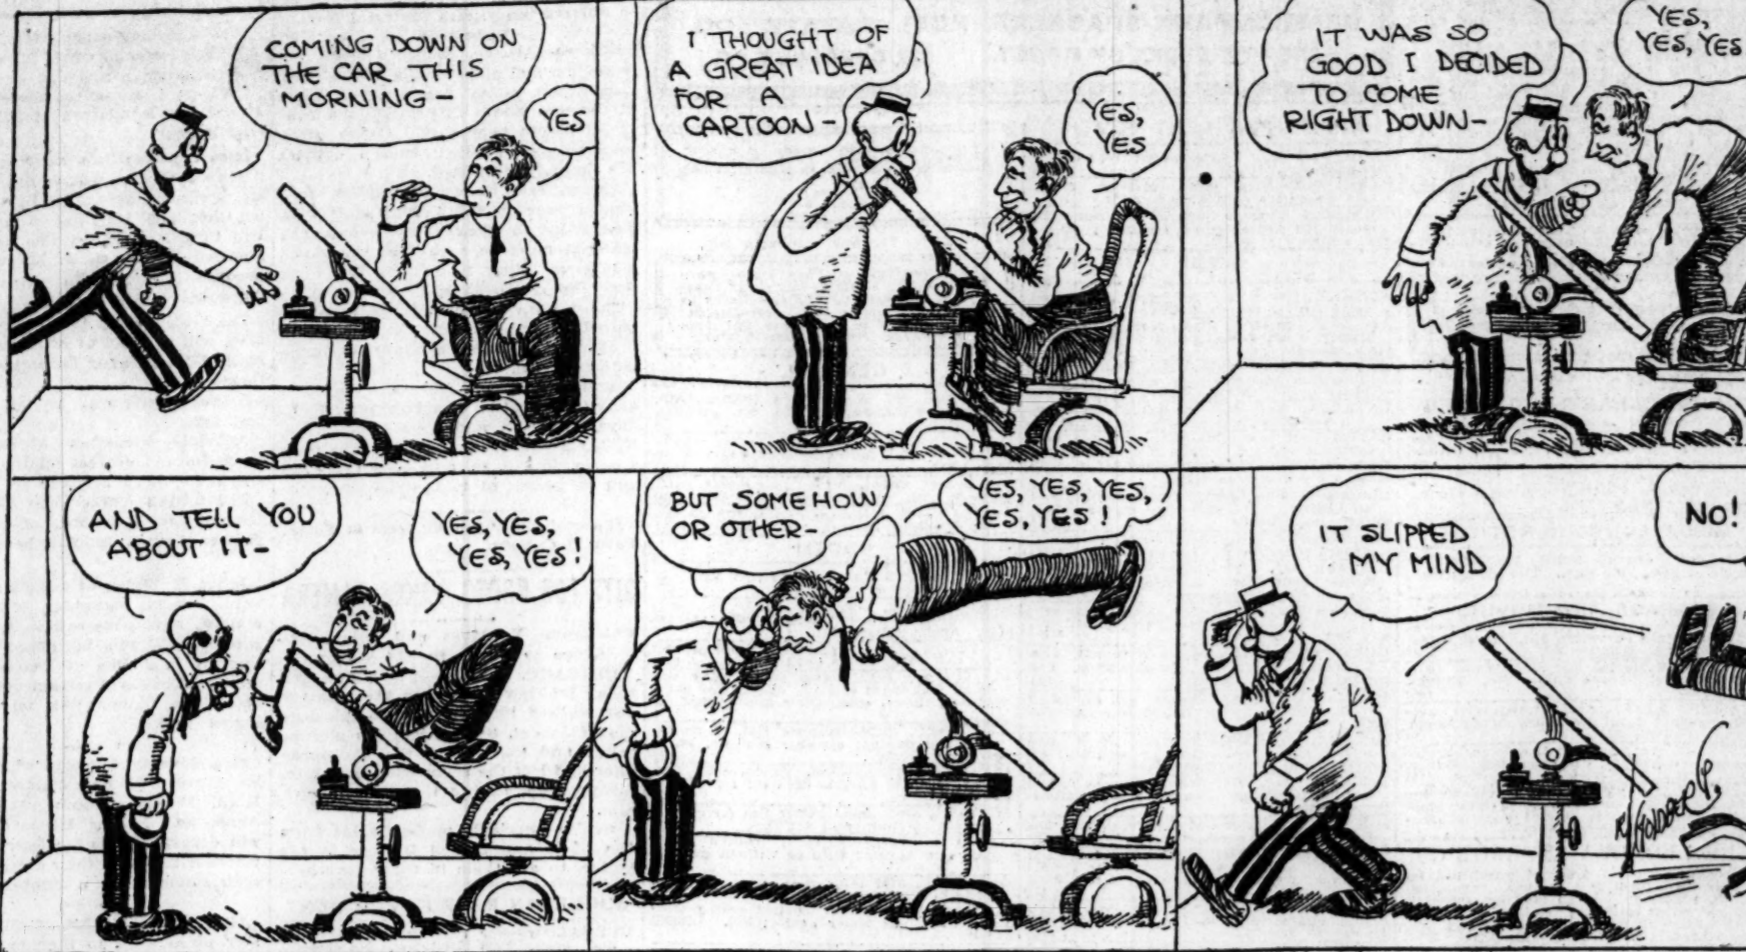

Observation of all mankind teaches us that the fool-killer is a mythical being.

BASEBALL FAN TALK

"SEE the game this afternoon, old man?"

"Sure did. Some game."

"Some game is right. That was a swell stop Gilligan made in the second inning."

"It sure was. That kid is clever."

"You said something then, old man. He can hit, too, and so ball find himself in se bonhair. You call aloud for se nib lunge stick, and beat se ground until your partner say, 'Ho, chuck it!' You say—but my friend, I excuse myself to repeat what you say."

"Ah! my friend, you are a great nation but your golf game gives me what you call se pip!"—Tit-Bits.

Faster Than the Wind

IT takes a member of an alien race sometimes to make an original definition. Here is a new superlative description for speed.

A near race riot happened in a Southern town. The negroes gathered in one crowd and the whites in another. The whites fired their revolvers into the air and the negroes took to their heels. Next day a plantation owner said to one of his men:

"Sam, were you in that crowd that gathered last night?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you run like the wind, Sam?"

"No, sir. I didn't run like the wind, 'deed I didn't. But I passed two others that was running like the wind."—Boston Record.

Strategy.

WHAT was all the argument yesterday?"

"Oh, we were discussing the merits of our respective cars."

"That's a foolish thing to do. You can never convince a man that your car is better than his."

"I know that, but I got him so mad that he committed himself to the statement that my car can't make over 10 miles an hour. The next time I'm brought up before him for speeding I'll remind him of that."

The Diplomat.

WERE you lonesome while I was away, Bertram, dear?" asked his wife when she returned from her trip to the seashore.

"Yes, love. I was dreadfully lonesome," replied Bertram dutifully.

"But why didn't you write to me oftener? I had only two letters from you the whole time I was away."

"Well, you see, my dear, I tried to write you, but I couldn't make the letters sound cheerful, and I was afraid you'd discover how lonesome I was and come right home. I wouldn't have spoiled your vacation for the world, love."

And he really thought she believed him.

The Wonders of Science.

A CAMERA man, working for the educational department of a film company, met an old farmer coming out of a house in one of the middle states and explained his presence on the place thus:

"I have just been taking some moving pictures of life on your farm."

"Did you catch any of my laborers in motion?" asked the old man curiously.

"Sure, I did."

The farmer shook his head reflectively and then said:

"Science is a wonderful thing!"—New York Times.

Verbose.

WHO is that fellow up there on the platform makin' a speech?"

"That's our Congressman, the Hon. Ebenezer Hooga."

"Kind o' long winded, ain't he?"

"Long winded! Say, when he was in Congress I used to take him three hours by the clock to make a motion to adjourn."

A WARNING TO GADABOUTS AND FLIRTS

By FREUD

Force of Habit.

AN interesting event occurred in the household of a Columbia professor not long ago. This professor, by the way, is very absent-minded.

The new arrival was announced by the nurse to the professor, who chanced at the time to be in his study, very much absorbed in some abstruse calculation.

"Professor," said the nurse, very proudly, "it's a little boy."

The professor looked up half-understandingly. "Well," said he, "ask him what he wants."

Easier to Work.

Cocked Hat by Brutal Advice to Husbands.

writer includes as eligible in the reforming process June brides, careless, wasteful, gadabout and flirtatious wives, and those who are acquainted with the average feminine matrimonial failure.

Strictures and extra slippers hung with discrimination about the house night, during the long, hard days, act as gentle reminders that somewhere there is a strong hand waiting and willing forcibly to guide the erring spouse.

Diplomatic Fellow.

I HARDLY know how to receive your proposal," said the heiress coldly. "You know, of course, that I am worth a million."

"A million!" exclaimed the ardent suitor. "I know that you are worth ten million other girls."

"Oh, Jack! Forgive me for suspecting you of mercenary motives."

He Eats "Out."

DID you hear that Smithsonian married an instructor in a cooking school?"

"No. Where does he get his meals?"

A stubborn envelope can be opened by placing in a dry spot and waiting until the glue wears out. This is the humane way, as of late years the sentiment has been against using force.
